Description:

This database is an index to individuals enumerated in the 1850 United States Federal Census, the Seventh Census of the United States. Census takers recorded many details including each person's name, age as of the census day, sex, color; birthplace, occupation of males over age fifteen, and more. No relationships were shown between members of a household. Additionally, the names of those listed on the population schedule are linked to actual images of the 1850 Federal Census.

State of Tennessee
County of Henderson

On this 12th day of December, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, personally appeared before me, an acting Justice of the Peace, within and for the county and State aforesaid, Caleb S. Wood, aged 62 years, a resident of Henderson County, in the State of Tennessee, who being duly sworn according to law, declares upon his oath that he is the son of Charles Wood, who was a Corporal in Captain John Summers^d Company, and served in the Continental Line in North and South Carolina and was in prison in Charleston, S.C. in 1790. He further declares that his father, Charles Wood, died in Roane County in the State of Tennessee in the year 1822 leaving his mother Rosa Wood a widow. He further declares that his father and mother were married in Bedford County, in the State of Virginia previous to his father going into service. He further declares that his mother Rosa Wood died in the year 1837 leaving sixteen children, ten of whom are now living, namely, Thomas, Caleb S., Jesse L, Christopher, Frank, John, and William, Elizabeth Miller, Anna Davis, Nancy Wilkenson.

He makes this declaration for the purpose of receiving the pension money due his mother Rosa Wood, for the benefit of himself and brothers and sisters, under the Act of Congress ?passed July 9th, 1822.

Sir:

In reply to your letter of the 22nd ultimo, relative to the informal application of the children of Rosa Wood, dec[^]Öd, I can only say that the declaration was sworn before a Justice of the Peace, who was, and is, a member of the ?Quorum Court, which is a court of record, at the time the court was in session. That it was not done in the courthouse, yet it was done before a court of record. This is a small matter, and one that can be easily ?remedied. The family record of Caleb Wood shows that he was born in 1791, but there are many children older than him, which can be proven.

??? from the military records of North Carolina will state, that it is traditionally known to the children, that their father was imprisoned by the British at Charleston, S.C. during the War of Revolution which is sufficient to identify his service.

I am respectfully your obdn[^]Öt. servt,
George W. Talbot

1822 Arrest

1822 Arrest & Indictment of Caleb Wood State of Tennessee. To the Sheriff of Roane county: Greeting. You are hereby commanded to take the body of Caleb Wood instantly, if to be found in your county, and him safely keep so that you have him before the Justices of our Court of Pleas & Quarter Sessions now sitting for said County, at the Courthouse, in Kingston, then and there to answer a charge of the state exhibited against him by an Indictment for and assault and battery. And have then there this writ. Witness, Henry Breazeale, Clerk of said Court, at office, in Kingston, the 4th Monday in July, A.D. 1822. State of Tennessee, Roane County, July Session, 1822. The grand jurors for the state, elected, impaneled, sworn, and charged to inquire for the body of the County aforesaid upon their oath present that a certain Caleb Wood, late of said county labors on the twenty-second day of July 1822 at to wit in said county with force and arms, an assault did make upon the body of a certain John Oliver and with the said John did then and there greatly beat, wound, and ill treat him, cause damage and against the peace and dignity of the state. W. A. Anderson, Atty. Genl. For the 4th District. Roane Co. TN - Caleb Wood, Assault & Battery, 1815 Transcribed by: Tricia Bledsoe bledsoe@icx.net

Caleb Wood - Assault and Battery - April 1815 Roane County, TN Witness Docket Book 1802-1815 shows: State versus Caleb Wood, Witnesses: Elisha Williamson, Sally Williamson, Casey Reynolds, Jesse Matlock, April 1815. Roane County Court Minutes (located in the new {current} courthouse): April 20, 1815, The State versus Caleb Wood: This day came as well the State by her Attorney Thomas Emmerson, Esquire, and the Defendant in his proper person, and therefore came a jury to wit: (long list of hard-to-read names), who being elected and sworn will and truly (several unreadable words) a true verdict give. According to the evidence, do say the defendant is guilty of the assault in the Bill of Indictment charged but that he is not guilty of the battery wherefore the court assesses his fine to fifty cents. Whereupon Gilbreath Bartow and William Morgan appeared in open court and confessed Judgment for the fine and cost. Therefore it is considered by the court that the State of Tennessee recover against the Defendant and Gilbreath Bartow and William Morgan the fine assessed by this court and the cost (can't read this word) behalf expended. Roane County, TN Archives (located in the old, pre-Civil War, courthouse) has a file folder mislabeled "Caleb Woody" with the following information: State of Tennessee, To the Sheriff of Roane County, Greetings. You are hereby commanded that of the goods, chattels, lands, and tenements of CALEB WOODS, Gilbreath Barlow, and William Morgan, his security (?or surety?) you cause to be made the sum of fourteen dollars, sixty-six and 1/2 cents which the state, lately in our Court of Pleas and quarter (can't read this word) held for the County of Roane. Recover against the said Caleb Wood for fine and costs whereof the said Caleb, Gilbreath, and William are to wit liable as to us appears of record. And have you the said money ready to render before the Justice of our said court at the Courthouse in Kingston on the 3rd Monday of July next. And have you then thereby (can't read this word). Witness Henry Breazeale, Clerk of our said court at office in Kinston the 3rd Monday of April 1815 and 39th year of American Independence. Signed Henry Breazeale. On the back of this page, the $14.66-1/2 was split as follows: Clerk = $3.00, Sheriff Brown = $1.91-1/2, Atty Emmerson = $2.50, ?Goins Eblen = $1.75, Witness E. Williamson = $2.00, Witness S. Williamson = $1.00, Witness Casey Reynolds = $1.00, Witness Jesse Matlock = $1.00, and a fine of $.50 was added. Note: I haven't yet figured out how to find the Sheriff's files to learn whom Caleb Wood had assaulted when he was arrested, or how to find the bail/bonds files to learn whether Caleb's friends had to post money or property. Tricia Bledsoe 7/21/99. Roane County, TN County Court Minutes (located in the new {current} courthouse): July 24, 1822, The State versus Caleb Woods: Came the Attorney General and the Defendant in their proper persons who submits to the court and the court having assessed his fine to $.50. Daniel Thomas and James Hankins came into court and together with the Defendant confessed judgment (can't read two words) give aforesaid and the costs. Therefore it is considered by the court that the State recover of the Defendant and Daniel Thomas and James Hankins the (can't read this word) the fine aforesaid and the costs in his behalf (can't read this word) for which execution may (can't read the last word). Note: Haven't yet found any record of the charges against Caleb Wood in this. Tricia Bledsoe 7/21/99. Roane Co. TN - The State versus Caleb Woods, 1822 Submitted by: Tricia Bledsoe bledsoe@icx.net

undertaking to be joined to the said Charles in lawful matrimony, that is to say, at Frederick County aforesaid with the jurisdiction aforesaid. Nevertheless, the said Charles his promise and assumption aforesaid not regarding but minding and fraudulently intending the same Lydia in this part craftily and subtilly to deceive and defraud the said Lydia to be his wife to take did altogether refuse and still doth refuse and after the promise and assumption aforesaid, to wit, on the 10th day of May 1748 at Frederick County aforesaid within the jurisdiction aforesaid did take to his wife another woman, to wit, Sarah Brightwell, now his wife contrary to his promise and assumption aforesaid to the damage of the said Lydia Dent £100 current money of Maryland and therefore she brings suit &c.⁵

And the aforesaid Charles Wood by Edward Dorsey, his attorney, comes and defends the force and injury when &c., and prays license thereof to imparle here until the next County Court."

Charles Wood by his attorney appeared in several Courts and in each case asked for permission to imparle, which means of course that he wanted a continuance. It finally came down to this particular Court, and a jury was impaneled as follows: "Edward Beatty, Moses Chapline, Harbert Wallace, Peter Stull, Joseph Dodridge, John Johnson of Kittocton, Shadrick Hyatt, Elias DeLashmutt, James Spurgeon, George Bond, Thomas Stoddert and Patrick Mathews." The Jury decided for the plaintiff, Lydia Dent.

The Court ordered that Lydia Dent recover from Wood damages assessed at £30 current money and also 1,443 pounds of tobacco for her costs and charges.

In a suit by Elizabeth Hall, executrix of Clement Hall, against John DeLashmutt for debt, it is shown ⁵The Clerk did not always spell out or complete familiar terms or phrases, but placed "&c." [etc.] in lieu thereof.

Tposfield, Mass Militia

Hampshire, 1639; freeman, 1642. Removed to Topsfield before 1657; selectman at Hampton and Topsfield; town clerk, Lt. local militia company1

"2 Aprilis 1635 - The underwritten names are to be transported to New England imbarqued in the Planter Nico: Trarice Mr. bound thither the pties have brought certificates from the Minister of St Albons in Hertfordshier & Attestacon from the Justices of peace according to the Lord's order:

Husb: man Franc's Peboddy ... 21"

In such documents the age set down after a name often was a mere approximation. The papers of Essex County Court in Massachusetts contain a deposition, dated the 24th of the 4th Month 1662 (June 24, 1662) giving the "testimoni of Francis Pabody aged fifti years." Another deposition, given Nov. 19, 1690, gives his age as 78 years. While the ship list would place his birth at 1612 or 1614, the depositions would set it at 1612.

The "Planter" sailed from London about Apr. 10, 1635, and arrived in Boston, Mass., June 7, 1635. Francis Peabody, a farmer and miller, settled first at Ipswich, Essex County, Massachusetts, where he was living in 1636 near Labour in Vaine on a road that led to the beach. The first reference to Francis in the Ipswich records appears in a description of lands owned by Samuel Hall:

"Eight acres of planting ground, by an act of the Towne as in the old book Ano 1636, lying near the highway going to Labour in vaine meadowe, butting to ye East upon ye planting ground of John Seaborn and on ye North planting ground of Francis Pebody."

In 1638 or 1639, the settler joined with the Rev. Stephen Bachilor and 12 others in the original settlement of Hampton, New Hampshire. He became a freeman of Hampton May 18, 1642. In 1645, he held a share in the common lands of Hampton and was also acting as a member of the committee that oversaw the finishing of the meeting house.

The Francis Peabody residence in Hampton was near those of Isaac Perkins and William Cole. Cole's wife, Eunice, apparently had difficulty controlling her tongue and sometimes lashed out at her neighbors. An entry in the records of the Ipswich Court, under date of Nov. 4, 1645, says "Eunice Cole is to sit in the stocks at Hampton and to make acknowledgement of her slanderous speeches concerning Susan Parkings and Lidia Pebodye and to pay to the witnes Isaac Perkins 7d and the feas of the court." This Mrs. Cole subsequently was tried for witchcraft.

After spending about 12 years in Hampton, Francis Peabody on March 25, 1650, sold his Hampton property to Robert Drake and moved to Topsfield, Mass., which had two years earlier been set off from his former home of Ipswich. Here he spent the rest of his life. On moving to Topsfield, he bought 250 acres of land from Samuel Symonds. On Apr. 20, 1666, he purchased from his near neighbor, William Evans, an acre located beside Pye Brook, on which he established in 1672 the first grist mill in the town. His house, situated on the bank of the brook, survived until 1846. He built a second, two-story house a little farther up the brook in 1692, and this stood until Oct. 4, 1914. A deposition made by Francis Peabody in 1690, when he was 78, provides some interesting detail:

"The testimony of Francis Pabody aged 78 years is that I having bought on half of mr Simmonds farm: ye said ffield mr Simmonds sent up goodman Gage & goodman Brag to shew me the bounds of that farme, and they did shew me a stak in a meadow which meadow is now on the back sid of the dwelling house of Isaac Cumins senr & on the north sid of the book several rods: to be the bounds on the north east corner of the farm: & from thence to a tree on the end of pains hill near to a meadow where Ipswich comunity settled the bounds; afterward I got ensign Howlet to help me run the line on the south est side of the farme between goodman every & me & he with others brought the line to the same place on the south est corner: to which place my fence did then & now doth point. -- Swore november 19th 1690 before me Samil Appleton Asst."

→ Little is known of Francis Peabody's first wife. She is clearly identified as Lydia in documents of the period, but her maiden name, ancestry and origin are unknown. She died before 1649 and he married about 1650 Mary (Foster) Wood, daughter of Renold and Judith (Wignol) Foster of Ipswich and the widow of Daniel Wood of Ipswich, who died in 1648. Francis Peabody died Feb. 19, 1697/8, in Topsfield. Mary survived about seven years, dying Apr. 9, 1705, in Topsfield.

Francis' will, dated Jan. 20, 1695/6, provided as follows:

"The last Will & Testament of Lieut: Francis Pebody of Topsfield in ye county of Es[sex] [in] Newe England: I Francis Pebody taking into consideration the uncertainty of my life and ye certainty of my death being of perfect understanding & memory have seen good to m[ake] a disposall of the temporall estate which God and his grade hath given me in this w[orld] as followeth, Impr. I committ my immortrall soul into the hands of God & my body to a decent buriall [when] God shall take me out of this world.

Secundo I give to my son John Pebody & Joseph Pebody all that tract of Land which I bought of marchant Joseph Juett of Rowly which Land lyeth in Boxford, I give to my son John two thirds of ye aforesaid tract of Land & to my son Joseph ye other third which I give to them & to their Heirs for ever & moreover I do give to them both in c[oun]try pay (not morny) five pounds to each of them, yt is five pounds apiece, besides which I have already given them.

Item, I do give to my son William Pebody all that Land which I bought of John Tod Senr [of] Rowly & of John Perley (excepting one hundred acres) which land I do give to him and his Heirs for ever, moreover I do give to him five pounds besides what he hath ... I me already, which I do the rather on consideration of his being (by ye providence of God) deprived of ye use of one of his arms, wch five pounds is to be paid as is above specified.

Item, I do give to my son in Law Daniell Wood That hundred acres of Land which is above excepted to my son William & is already in part possessed by my son in [law] Daniel Wood which said Land I do give to him & his Heirs for ever it be[ing] in consideration of what I was obldged to do for him when come of age & pro[vided] yt he shall be satisfyed therewith on yt account & give a discharge thereof to such [...] shall concern Which Land I have already promised & do purpose forthwith to [give] him a deed of in a way of firm conveyance in which deed I shall bound...Limit ye aforesaid hundred acres accordingly.

Item, I do give to my son Isaac Pebody all the land yt I do now live upon which I bou[ght] of Mr. Simons & my will is yt my son Isaac shall have all ye said Land which lyeth on [ye] south side of ye brook running through the said farm, both upland and meadow so bounded. I give to my son Isaac Pebody, together with my dwelling house and housing, orchard, mill, and mill yard, with all yt I bought of William Evens; and moreover I give to my son Isaac from the bridge all ye meadow downward on ye northeast side of ye brook wch runneth through Tho. Dorman's meadow; as also I do give to my son Isaac a rod and half of upland adjoining to ye aforesaid meadow all along for ye brining of his hay from time to time, wch aforesaid land I do give to my son Isaac and his heirs forever, together with Twenty acres of land on ye south side of ye river, neer to ye dwelling of Joseph Toun junr. Also I give to my son Isaac that bed with the furniture thereunto belonging which he now hath ye improvement of, and this I would have noted, that I have gen the more to my son Isaac on consideration of ye providence of God disanabling him by ye loss of one of his leggs.

Item, I do give to my grandchild Jacob Pebody (ye son of my son Jacob deceased) ye house which his father dwelt in, together with all ye upland on yt south side of ye brook yt is on ye north side of ye abovesaid brook, as also all the meadow on ye same side of ye brook from ye bridge and so upward; my will is yt in case my said grandchild Jacob Pebody do live to ye age of twenty one years, yt then he shall have as is abovesaid to enjoy himself and his heirs forever. But in case ye said Jacob live not to yt age, yt then any of my other sons shall have liberty to have the land and house abovesaid, provided yt he or they shall pay unto my grandchildren Kesia and Mercy Pebody, ye children of my son Jacob deceased, an hundred and twenty pounds in common current money (not silver) notwithstanding what is above said in case ye said Jacob should have issue before he should arrive at ye aforesaid age, yt ye said land shall be at ye dispose of ye said Jacob Pebody, together with ye house aforesaid. Also I do give to my grandchildren Kesia and Mary Pebody, ye children of my son Jacob deceased, I do give to each of them thirty acres of land apiece, provided they shall live to ye age of eighteen years; which three score acres of land lyeth on ye south side of ye river, in ye southwest division beyond Mr. Endicott's farm, in ye place called the stickey meadow, which land abovesaid I bought part of deacon Tho. Perkins about thirty acres, and about thirty more which I bought of Daniell Dorman; but in case yt neither of ye children Kesia or Mercy shall live to the age of eighteen, yt the ye abovesaid thirty acres apiece shall return to my next and immediate children to be equally divided amongst them; and in case one of the said grandchildren live to yt age and not ye other, that then ye whole threescore acres shall fall to ye survivor of them.

Item, I give to my son Nathaniell Pebody together with my Grandchild Samson How a[all] that four hundred acres which I bought of mr Stephen Sewall Lying in Rowly village called Boxford which land lyeth near Bradford & was formerly mr Nelsons of Rowly. My will is yt my son Nathaniell shall have three hundred acres & Samson How ye other hundred acres which for quantity and quality ye aforesaid Samson How shall have ye said Hundred acres provided yt yt said Samson How shall be at my despose till ye age of twenty[one] years But in Case my son Nathaniell shall dye without Lawfull issue that then ye above said three hundred acres shall fall to my other children by equal division, his widdow notwithstanding enjoying ye benefit thereof during life & as to his moveable estate which he is already in possession of I leave it all to be at his yt is my son nathaniells despose here is to be understood yt what shall be left undesposed of by my son Nathaniell at his death of his three hundred acres shall be for ye use of his widdow during her life as abovesaid yt is ye life of her widdowhood.

"I do reserve for Mary my wife ye South End of my house for her Use to live in as also ye New Cellar as also ye Use of two milch Cows which she shall choose out of my milch kine, Also my will is yt my son Isaac shall pay to my wife Mary yearly twenty bushells of Indian Come, four Bushells of wheat, four of rye and six of malt, also yt my wife have liberty to keep two or three swine, as also yearly half a dozen pounds of wool, also my will is yt my wife shal have pasture for her coves with my son Isaacs as also my son Isaac shall provide fodder for them in ye winter. As also my wife shall have Liberty for an horse to ride on as she shall have occasion. Also my will is yt in Case my wife shall marry again yt then all ye privildges abovesaid shall cease, but during her widowhood she shal also have (as benefit by my orchard) yearly a barrell of Cidar as also som apples as her occasions either in the summer or winter shall require, Moreover my wife shall have ye use & despose of two beds together with needful firewood provided for her for which end she shall have ye use of such of my oxen as shall be needful. Also I do order yt Samson How shall live with my wife till he shall come to ye age of twenty one years & be at her Command to be helpfull to her on all accounts as she shall have occasion & in case Samson How shall be taken away by his father before he shall have served as abovesaid yt then my wife shall have that hundred acres of land abovesaid (given Conditionally to ye said Samson) to provide for herself such help as shall be necessary. & in case my wife shall dy before ye said Samson How shall arrive at yt aforesaid term of years yt then he shall be at my wifes despose to whom she shall see good & in case yt said Samson will comply with such despose yt then ye said hundred acres of land intended for him shall be at my wifes despose.

Item, I give to my daughter Lydia Perley five pounds besides what she hath already had of me.

I do give to my daughter Mary Death five pounds besides what she hath had already.

I do give to my daughter Sarah How five pounds besides what she hath had already.

I do give to my daughter Hephzibah Ray five pounds besides what she hath had already all which Legacies ordered to my Children I do appoint to be paid in common currant pay as is before specified to others of my children.

Note yt what Legacies I do here give in my will shall be paid by my executors out of my estate which I do leave in my son Isaac hands & to my wives, as com or Cattell &c my debts & funerall expences being discharged.

And finally, I do appoint, Constitute & ordain my wife Mary to be an executrix together with my son John Pebody & Isaac Pebody as executors of this my last will & testament & in Case after Legacies paid there be any estate left to be divided yt it shall be desposed of in a way of devision as my executrix together with executors shall see good.

That what is here above written is ye last will & Testament of ye abovesaid Francis Pebody appears by his own hand & seal ye day & Date here mentioned as also by ye testimony of ye witnesses hereunto subscribed.

It is to be noted yt notwithstanding what is abovesaid concerning my son Nathaniells three hundred acres returning to his brethren in Case of his dying wtout lawfull Issue, It is to be understood by ye three hundred acres what he shall not see Cause to despose of before his death I hereby notwithstanding what hath been said giving him thereunto, otherwise what is above written to be of full force as is expressed.

ffrancis Pabody"

"The above said premises were signed & sealed & declared to be ye last will & Testament of ye said Francis Pebody ye twentieth day of January in ye year of our Lord one thousand six hundred Ninety & five or six, in presence of us

Sir Thomas Foster

SIR THOMAS FOSTER (Sir Thomas, Sir William, Sir Richard, SirReginald, Sir Alfred, Sir Randolph, Sir John, Sir William, Sir Reginald,Sir Hugo, Sir Richard, Baldwin IV, Baldwin III, Baldwin II, Baldwin I,Anacher Great Forester). He was knighted, and married the daughter of Fetherstonbaugh, of Stanhope Hall, Durham, Chief of the Fetherston clan {This family is of Saxon origin, and was seated at Fetherston},in Northumberland, before the Conquest; that part of the country having been allotted to its progenitor, a Saxon officer, for his gallant conduct against the Britons. Sir Thomas son Roger is my Ancestor

Roger was 18 years old when he fled from Northumberland, as explained in a letter to Sir John Forster of Bamborough dated 17 Apr 1590. This letter was writted to Roger's Grandson Thomas Foster of Hundson, afterwords Judge Sir. Thomas Forster of Hundson. Roger had a grandson Thomas Foster of Hunsdon, who became Judge Sir Thomas Foster of Hunsdon. The letter was as follows. Courin Forster-After righte heartie commendations unto you, ye shal understand yt I have received your letter wherein you desire to know or yr pedigree, for that yr grandfather, as ye have learned descended out of the house of Etherstone, and to know whether he was one elder, second, or third, or forth brother, and wherefore he fled the countrie of Nothumberland, I assure you I can throwlie satisfie you therein: for your grandfather, called Roger Foster, was my great uncle, and there were XIX brothers and he was the second brother. His father was called Thomas Forster, and his mother's name was Featherstonehaugh; his eldest son was called Thomas Forster, who was my great-grandfather; and it happened that for of the said brethern at a hunbing, and riding homward through a town called Newham for the bitting of a greyhound they and a company of Karrs fell out, and there beganbloodshed and feuds which continued until there was but one Karr of the greyhound living: during which time my grandfather and yours and another brother of theirs, called Nicholas Forster-mine being twenty years old, yrs 17 years and Nic holas, a child of 14, being a-hunting-were waited on by one of the Karrs and two of their allyance called Too an King, who sett upon the three brothers and too were slain there, and Karr fled insomuch that after the said slaughter my grandfather fled to Ridsdale in ye countie, because he was safe there and yours fled into south parts, of whom I never heard of since yt time till now.....at my house near Alnwick 17th Apr 1590. Your loving cousin, John Forster.

Flander

Flanders CoA Coat of Arms

After Baldwin and Judith had resisted his attempts to capture them, Charles had his bishops excommunicate the English monks and nobles supporting by standing in Rome to make him with them, perhaps in 1. Their plea was rejected and Charles was forced to accept. The marriage took place on 11 December 861 at Rheims. The 870s Baldwin had acquired the lay-abbeys of St. Vaast and St. Omer, and he acquired the counties of Flanders and Weast, or parts thereof in 863. Baldwin developed himself as a very faithful and loyal vassal of Charles and played an important role in the continuing wars against the Vikings. He is named in 877 as one of those willing to support the emperor's son, Louis the Younger. During his life Baldwin expanded his territory and won the major political offices of Western Francia, he died in 879 and was buried in the Abbey of Saint-Denis, near Paris-France.

Family

Baldwin was succeeded by his son by Judith, Baldwin II (c. 880 - 917). The couple's first son was named Charles and his maternal grandfather, but he died young. He died and Judith (likely by 918) married 890, became Count of Flanders around 890, but he and his brother joined King Zwentibold of Lotharing in 895. In 896 they attacked Vermandois and captured Aves, Saint Quentin and Fismes, but later that year Reims was captured by Louis the Great and allied.

Baldwin I, Count of Flanders

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Baldwin I (probably born 830s, died 879), also known as Baldwin Iron Arm (the epithet is first recorded in the 12th century), was the first count of Flanders.

At the time Baldwin first appears in the records he was already a count, presumably in the area of Flanders, but this is not known. Count Baldwin rose to prominence when he eloped with princess Judith, daughter of Charles the Bald, king of West Francia. Judith had previously been married to Ethelwulf and his son (from an earlier marriage) Ethelbald, kings of Wessex, but after the latter's death in 860 she had returned to France.

Around Christmas 861, at the instigation of Baldwin and with her brother Louis' consent Judith escaped the custody she had been put under in the city of Senlis after her return from England. She fled north with Count Baldwin. Charles had given no permission for a marriage and tried to capture Baldwin, sending letters to Rorik of Dorestad and Bishop Hungar, forbidding them to shelter the fugitive.

After Baldwin and Judith had evaded his attempts to capture them, Charles had his bishops excommunicate the couple. Judith and Baldwin responded by traveling to Rome to plead their case with Pope Nicholas I. Their plea was successful and Charles was forced to accept. The marriage took place on 13 December 863 in Auxerre. By 870 Baldwin had acquired the lay-abbacy of St. Pieter in Ghent and is assumed to have also acquired the counties of Flanders and Waas, or parts thereof by this time. Baldwin developed himself as a very faithful and stout supporter of Charles and played an important role in the continuing wars against the Vikings. He is named in 877 as one of those willing to support the emperor's son, Louis the Stammerer. During his life Baldwin expanded his territory into one of the major principalities of Western Francia, he died in 879 and was buried in the Abbey of Saint-Bertin, near Saint-Omer.

Family

Baldwin was succeeded by his son by Judith, Baldwin II (c. 866 - 918). The couple's first son was named Charles after his maternal grandfather, but he died young. His third son Raoul (Rodulf) (c. 869 - murdered 896) became Count of Cambrai around 888, but he and his brother joined king Zwentibold of Lotharingia in 895. In 896 they attacked Vermandois and captured Arras, Saint-Quentin and Peronne, but later that year Raoul was captured by count Heribert and killed.

Count of Flanders

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The Count of Flanders was the ruler or sub-ruler of the county of Flanders from the 9th century until the abolition of the position by the French revolutionaries in 1790.

Although the early rulers, from Arnulf I onwards, were sometime referred to as margraves or marquesses, this alternate title largely fell out of use by the 12th century. Since then the rulers of Flanders have only been referred to as counts.

The Counts of Flanders enlarged their estate through a series of diplomatic manoeuvres. The counties of Hainaut, Namur, Béthune, Nevers, Auxerre, Rethel, Burgundy, and Artois were acquired via marriage with the respective heiresses. The County of Flanders itself suffered the same fate. By the marriage of Margaret III, Countess of Flanders with Philip the Bold, Duke of Burgundy, the county and the subsidiary counties were absorbed into the Duchy of Burgundy in 1405.

- Charles IV (r. 1665-1700), son of Philip IV, also King of Spain as Charles II
- Philip VII (House of Bourbon) (r. 1700-1706), great-grandson of Philip IV

Between 1706 and 1714 Flanders was invaded by the English and the Dutch during the War of the Spanish Succession. The fief was claimed by the House of Habsburg and the House of Bourbon. In 1713, the Treaty of Utrecht settled the succession and the County of Flanders went to the Austrian branch of the House of Habsburg.

- Charles V (r. 1714-1740), great grandson of Philip III, also Holy Roman Emperor (elect)
- Maria Theresa (r. 1740-1780), daughter of Charles IV, jointly with
 - Francis I (r. 1740-1765)
- Joseph I (r. 1780-1790), son of Maria Theresa and Francis I
- Leopold (r. 1790-1792), son of Maria Theresa and Francis I
- Francis II (r. 1792-1835), son of Leopold, also Holy Roman Emperor

The title was factually abolished after revolutionary France annexed Flanders in 1795. Francis II relinquished his claim on the Low Countries in the Treaty of Campo Formio of 1797 and the area remained part of France until the end of the Napoleonic Wars.

Modern Usage

House of Orange-Nassau

- no claimants after 1839

In 1815, the United Kingdom of the Netherlands was established by the Congress of Vienna and William I of the Netherlands was made King of the Netherlands (Latin: rex Belgii). The Belgian Revolution of 1830 caused a split in the kingdom between the North and the South. Neither he nor his descendants made any claims to the title of count of Flanders after 1839, when a peace treaty between the Kingdom of the Netherlands and Belgium was signed.

House of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha

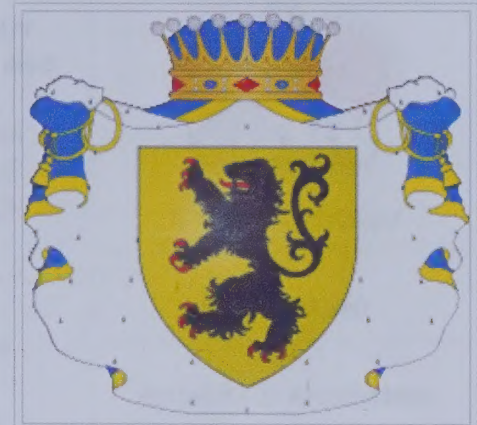

- Prince Philippe of Belgium, son of King Leopold I of the Belgians (1840–1905)
- Prince Charles of Belgium, son of King Albert I of the Belgians (1905–1983)

In modern times, from 1831 onwards the substantive title Count of Flanders has been given to younger sons of the Kings of the Belgians (Latin: rex Belgarum). Since 1983 the title will not be conferred anymore.

House of Bourbon

- Juan Carlos I, King of Spain

The title Count of Flanders is one of the titles of the Spanish Crown. It is only a historical title which is only nominally and ceremonially used.

Margrave

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

A margrave was a medieval hereditary nobleman with military responsibilities in a border province of a kingdom. Border provinces usually had more exposure to military incursions from the outside, compared to interior provinces, and thus a margrave usually had larger and more active military forces than other lords. The margrave may also have had larger territorial area under his control as a result of expansions of territory at the border. In medieval times the margraves usually had more autonomy from the king compared to other types of hereditary lords. By late medieval and early modern times, as borders grew less unsettled, the distinction between margraves and other hereditary lords gradually disappeared.

The word margrave (Latin: marchio) is the English and French form (recorded since 1551) of the German title Markgraf (from Mark, "march" and Graf, "count"^[1]). The word, if not the formal title, was also in use in most other European languages including Spanish, Polish and Scandinavian languages. In English, the term Marcher Lord is etymologically closely related and semantically very similar to margrave.

History

A Markgraf, or margrave, originally functioned as the military governor of a Carolingian mark, a medieval border province. A margrave had jurisdiction over a march (German: Mark), which also become known, after his title, as a margraviate or margravate, strictly speaking the correct word for his office. As outlying areas tended to have great importance to the central realms of kings and princes, and they often became larger than those nearer the interior, margraves often acquired considerably greater power than other counts of a realm. Being on the border, a Margrave by definition had to maintain armed forces and fortifications which would enable him to withstand an invasion - and these made his position stronger and more independent towards his own sovereign. Moreover, if successful in war, a Margrave might conquer considerable territory which he would tend to keep to himself, acquiring more power and wealth - and in some cases (see below) eventually building himself up as an independent King.

Most marks, and consequently their margraves, had their base on the Eastern border of the Carolingian and later Holy Roman Empire. The Breton Mark on the Atlantic and the border of peninsular Brittany, and the Spanish Mark on the Muslim frontier, including what is now Catalonia, are notable exceptions. The Spanish Mark was to have a considerable importance in the early stages of the Reconquista, with ambitious margraves originally based in the Pyrenees taking advantage of Muslim Al-Andalus' disarray in the 11th century to extend their territory southwards, eventually leading to the creation of Christian Kingdoms that would become Spain.

Knight & Dame

In the modern Holy Roman Empire, two original marches developed into the two most powerful states in Central Europe: the Mark Brandenburg (the nucleus of the later Kingdom of Prussia) and Austria (which became heir to various, mainly 'Hungarian' and 'Burgundian' principalities). Austria was originally called Marchia Orientalis in Latin, the "eastern borderland", as (originally roughly the present Lower -) Austria formed the eastern outpost of the Holy Roman Empire, on the border with the Magyars and the Slavs. During the 19th and 20th centuries the term was sometimes translated as Ostmark by some Germanophones, but medieval documents attest only the vernacular name Ostarrîchi. Another Mark in the south-east, Styria, still appears as Steiermark in German today.

In the late Middle Ages, as marches lost their military importance, margraviates developed into hereditary monarchies, comparable in all but name to duchies. A unique case was the Golden Bull of 1356 (issued by Charles IV, the Holy Roman Emperor and King of Bohemia), recognizing the Margrave of Brandenburg as an elector of the Holy Roman Empire, membership of the highest college within the Imperial diet carrying the politically significant privilege of being the sole electors of the non-hereditary Emperor, which was previously de facto restricted to dukes and three prince-archbishops (Cologne, Mainz and Trier); other non-ducal lay members would be the King of Bohemia and the Palatine of the Rhenish Electoral Palatinate. The King of Bohemia himself ruled over the Margravate of Moravia or appointed a Margrave to that post.

As the title of margrave lost its military connotation, it became more and more used as a mere 'peerage' rank, higher than Graf (count) and its associated compound titles such as Landgraf, Gefürsteter Graf and Reichsgraf, but lower than Herzog (duke). At the end of the monarchies in Germany, Italy and Austria, not a single margraviate remained, since they all had been raised to higher titles.

The etymological heir of the margrave, also introduced in countries that never had any margraviates, the marquess (see that article; their languages may use one or two words, e.g. French margrave and marquis), still ranks in the British peerage between duke and earl (equivalent to a continental count).

The wife of a margrave is called a margravine (German Markgräfin).

Margravial titles in various Western languages

Languages with a specific title for the margrave (distinct from the later marquess, for which all have a word, if different given in parentheses) include (but often no actual marches existed there, so it only refers to foreign cases) :

- Afrikaans Markgraaf (alongside Markies)
- Catalan Marcgravi (alongside Marquès/Marquesa)
- Croatian Markgrof
- Czech Markrabě (alongside Markýz)
- Danish Markgreve

- Estonian Markkrahv
- French Margrave (alongside Marquis)
- Finnish Rajakreivi (alongside Markiisi)
- German Markgraf
- Greek Μαρκήσιος or Μαργράβος
- Hungarian (Magyar) őrgrof (alongside Márki)
- Icelandic Markgreifi
- Italian Margravio (alongside Marchese)
- Norwegian Markgreve
- Persian Marzban (in Persian, Marz means border, and Ban means lord)
- Polish Margrabia (alongside Markiz)
- Portuguese Margrave (alongside Marquês)
- Romanian Margraf
- Russian Маркграф
- Spanish Margrave (alongside Marqués/Marquesa)
- Swedish Markgreve

Furthermore

- Several states have had quite analogous institutions, sometimes also rendered in English as margrave. For example, on England's Celtic (Welsh and Scottish) borders, Marcher Lords were vassals of the King of England in order to help him defend and expand his realm. Such a lord's demesne was called a march. Compare the English county palatine. The Marcher Lords were a conspicuous exception to the general structure of English feudalism as set up by William the Conqueror, who made a considerable effort to avoid having too-powerful vassals with a big contiguous territory and a strong local power base; the needs of fighting the Welsh and Scots made it necessary to have exactly this kind of vassal in the Marches, who did develop their own territorial ambitions (for example those of Chester).
- The late-medieval commanders, fiefholders, of Viipuri/Viborg Castle in Finland (see Fief of Viborg), the bulwark of the then-Swedish realm, at the border against Novgorod/Russia, did in practice function as margraves having feudal privileges and keeping all the crown's incomes from the fief to use for the defence of the realm's eastern border. Its fiefholders were (almost always) descended from, or married to, the noble family of Bååt from Småland in Sweden.
- Marggrabowa is an example of a town whose name comes from a margrave. Located in the Masurian region of East Prussia, Marggrabowa was founded in 1560 by Duke Albert of Prussia, Margrave of Brandenburg. It has since been renamed to the Polish Olecko.
- The German word "Mark" also has other meanings than the margrave's territorial border area, often with a territorial component, which occur far more numerous than margraviates; so its occurrence in composite place names does not imply whether it was part of a 'margraviate' as such, although 'margrave', or Markgraf, translates as the "count of the marches", originally ruling an area on the border or outlying area of a larger feudal state. Uses of "Mark" in German names are commonly more local, as in the context of a Markgenossenschaft, which means a partially self-governing association of agricultural users of an area; the German name-component Mark can also be a truncated form of Markt 'market', as in the small town of Marksuhl in the Eisenach area of Thuringia, meaning 'market town on the river Suhl'. The non-margravial origin even applies to the County of Mark and the country of Denmark (meaning 'march of the Danes', in the sense of border area, yet never under a Margrave but the Danish national kingdom, outside the Holy Roman Empire).

- The Persian name for Marzban : Marz means border, and Ban means lord) And still is margrave in big parts of towns in Iran. Margraves was from the start very rich officials that had land, villages and including towns. Markgreve was very important in the towns. It was they how saw to that all functioned financially.

Judith of Flanders

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Judith of Flanders (or Judith of France) (October 844 – 870) was the first daughter of the Frankish King and Holy Roman Emperor Charles the Bald and his wife Ermentrude of Orléans. Through her marriage to two Kings of Wessex, Judith was twice a Queen, and through her third marriage to Baldwin, she became the first Countess of Flanders. She was ancestress of the later Counts of Flanders, and was the stepmother and later the sister-in-law of King Alfred the Great.

Queen of Wessex

When Judith was about 12 years old, her father gave her in marriage to Ethelwulf, King of Wessex on October 1, 856 at Verberie sur Oise, France. Ethelwulf had been on pilgrimage to Rome, and had stopped at the Court of Judith's father, Charles the Bald on his journey back to Wessex. Soon after the two returned to England, Ethelwulf's eldest surviving son, Ethelbald, had devised a conspiracy with the Ealdorman of Somerset and the Bishop of Sherborne to oppose Æthelwulf's resumption of the kingship. In response to this crisis, Æthelwulf yielded western Wessex to his son while he himself retained central and eastern Wessex. Æthelwulf's restoration included a special concession on behalf of Saxon queens: the West Saxons previously did not allow the queen to sit next to the king. In fact they were not referred to as a queen, but merely the "wife of the king." This restriction was lifted for Queen Judith, probably because she was a high ranking European princess.

When Ethelwulf died on the 13th of January 858, he was succeeded by his son, Ethelbald. In the same year Ethelbald earned the censure of the Church by marrying Judith, his widowed teenage stepmother. The relationship was deemed incestuous and in direct contravention of church law. The marriage was eventually annulled in 860 on the grounds of consanguinity, the same year that Ethelbald died.

Through her marriages to two Kings of Wessex, Judith was twice Queen of Wessex and was both the stepmother and later sister-in-law of Alfred the Great. Interestingly, Judith's son by her third marriage, Baldwin II of Flanders would go on to marry Alfred's daughter, Ælfhryth (also known as Elfrida). By her third marriage, Judith was also the ancestress of another Queen of England, Matilda of Flanders, the consort of England's first Norman King, William the Conqueror. Thus Judith is not only an ancestress of the Counts of Flanders, but through Matilda, she is also direct ancestress of the Monarchs of England and later Great Britain and the United Kingdom and the other Commonwealth Realms.

Elopement with Baldwin of Flanders

Following the death of her second husband, Judith sold her properties in Wessex and returned to France. According to the Chronicle of St. Bertin, her father sent her to the Monastery at Senlis, where she would remain "under his protection and royal episcopal guardianship, with all the honour due to a queen, until such time as, if she could not remain chaste, she might marry in the way the apostle said, that is suitably and legally."^[1] Presumably, Charles may have intended to arrange another marriage for his daughter. However, around Christmas 861, Judith eloped with Baldwin, later Count of Flanders. The two were likely married at the monastery of Senlis at this time. The record of the incident in the Annals depict Judith not as the passive victim of bride theft but as an active agent, eloping at the instigation of Baldwin and apparently with her brother Louis the Stammerer's consent.^[2]

Unsurprisingly, Judith's father was furious and ordered his bishops to excommunicate the couple. They later fled to the court of Judith's cousin Lothair II of Lotharingia for protection, before going to Pope Nicholas I to plead their case. The Pope took diplomatic action and asked Judith's father to accept the union as legally binding and welcome the young couple into his circle - which ultimately he did. The couple then returned to France and were officially married at Auxerre in 863.

Baldwin was given the land directly south of the Scheldt, ie: the Country of Flanders (albeit an area of smaller size than the county which existed in the High Middle Ages) to ward off Viking attacks. Although it is disputed among historians as to whether King Charles did this in the hope that Baldwin would be killed in the ensuing battles with the Vikings, Baldwin managed the situation remarkably well. Baldwin succeeded in quelling the Viking threat, expanded both his army and his territory quickly, and became a faithful supporter of King Charles. The March of Baldwin came to be known as the County of Flanders and would come to be one of the most powerful principalities of France. Judith herself died in 870, when she was approximately 26 years old.

Marriages and Children

Judith was first married to King Ethelwulf of Wessex, then to his heir, Ethelbald of Wessex. Her first two marriages produced no issue.

By her third husband, Baldwin I of Flanders, Judith's children included:

- Charles (born after 863, died young) - ostensibly named for Judith's father, Charles the Bald
- Baldwin II - (c. 864/866 - 918). Succeeded his father as Count of Flanders. Married Ælfthryth, daughter of Alfred the Great
- Raoul (Rodulf) - (c. 869 - 896). Became Count of Cambrai around 888, and was killed by Herbert I of Vermandois in 896

Charles the Bald

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Charles the Bald^[1] (13 June 823 – 6 October 877), Holy Roman Emperor (875–877, as Charles II) and King of West Francia (840–877, as Charles II, with the borders of his land defined by the Treaty of Verdun, 843), was the youngest son of the Emperor Louis the Pious by his second wife Judith.

Charles the Bald, denier, minted at Bourges, after 848

Struggle against his brothers

He was born on 13 June 823 in Frankfurt, when his elder brothers were already adults and had been assigned their own regna, or subkingdoms, by their father. The attempts made by Louis the Pious to assign Charles a subkingdom, first Alemannia and then the country between the Meuse and the Pyrenees (in 832, after the rising of Pepin I of Aquitaine) were unsuccessful. The numerous reconciliations with the rebellious Lothair and Pepin, as well as their brother Louis the German, King of Bavaria, made Charles's share in Aquitaine and Italy only temporary, but his father did not give up and made Charles the heir of the entire land which was once Gaul and would eventually be France. At a diet near Crémieux in 837, Louis the Pious bade the nobles do homage to Charles as his heir. This led to the final rising of his sons against him and Pepin of Aquitaine died in 838, whereupon Charles received that kingdom, finally once and for all. Pepin's son Pepin II would be a perpetual thorn in his side.

The death of the emperor in 840 led to the outbreak of war between his sons. Charles allied himself with his brother Louis the German to resist the pretensions of the new emperor Lothair I, and the two allies defeated Lothair at the Battle of Fontenay-en-Puisaye on 25 June 841. In the following year, the two brothers confirmed their alliance by the celebrated Oaths of Strasbourg. The war was brought to an end by the Treaty of Verdun in August 843. The settlement gave Charles the Bald the kingdom of the West Franks, which he had been up till then governing and which practically corresponded with what is now France, as far as the Meuse, the Saône, and the Rhône, with the addition of the Spanish March as far as the Ebro. Louis received the eastern part of the Carolingian Empire, known as the East Francia and later Germany. Lothair retained the imperial title and the kingdom of Italy (medieval). He also received the central regions from Flanders through the Rhineland and Burgundy as king of Middle Francia.

Reign in the West

Seal of Charles the Bald

The first years of Charles's reign, up to the death of Lothair I in 855, were comparatively peaceful. During these years the three brothers continued the system of "confraternal government", meeting repeatedly with one another, at Koblenz (848), at Meerssen (851), and at Attigny (854). In 858, Louis the German, invited by disaffected nobles eager to oust Charles, invaded the West Frankish kingdom. Charles was so unpopular that he was unable to summon an army, and he fled to Burgundy. He was saved only by the support of the bishops, who refused to crown Louis king, and by the fidelity of the Welfs, who were related to his mother, Judith. In 860, he in his turn tried to seize the kingdom of his nephew, Charles of Provence, but was repulsed. On the death of his nephew Lothair II in 869, Charles tried to seize Lothair's dominions, but by the Treaty of Mersen (870) was compelled to share them with Louis the German.

Besides these family disputes, Charles had to struggle against repeated rebellions in Aquitaine and against the Bretons. Led by their chiefs Nomenoë and Erispoë, who defeated the king at Ballon (845) and Juvardail (851), the Bretons were successful in obtaining a de facto independence. Charles also fought against the Vikings, who devastated the country of the north, the valleys of the Seine and Loire, and even up to the borders of Aquitaine. Several times Charles was forced to purchase their retreat at a heavy price. Charles led various expeditions against the invaders and, by the Edict of Pistres of 864, made the army more mobile by providing for a cavalry element, the predecessor of the French chivalry so famous during the next 600 years. By the same edict, he ordered fortified bridges to be put up at all rivers to block the Viking incursions. Two of these bridges at Paris saved the city during its siege of 885–886.

Reign as emperor

In 875, after the death of the Emperor Louis II (son of his half-brother Lothair), Charles the Bald, supported by Pope John VIII, traveled to Italy, receiving the royal crown at Pavia and the imperial insignia in Rome on 29 December. Louis the German, also a candidate for the succession of Louis II, revenged himself by invading and devastating Charles' dominions, and Charles had to return hastily to Francia. After the death of Louis the German (28 August 876), Charles in his turn attempted to seize Louis's kingdom, but was decisively beaten at Andernach on 8 October 876. In the meantime, John VIII, menaced by the Saracens, was urging Charles to come to his defence in Italy. Charles again crossed the Alps, but this expedition was received with little enthusiasm by the nobles, and even by his regent in Lombardy, Boso, and they refused to join his army. At the same time Carloman, son of Louis the German, entered northern Italy. Charles, ill and in great distress, started on his way back to Gaul, but died while crossing the pass of Mont Cenis at Brides-les-Bains, on 6 October 877.

According to the Annals of St-Bertin, Charles was hastily buried 1787 Frederick County, Maryland Will of Charles Wood, Sr.

In the name of God, Amen. I, Charles Wood, Senr., of Frederick County in the State of Maryland, Farmer, being sick and weak in body but of sound disposing mind, memory, and understanding and calling to mind the uncertainty of this life, and that it is appointed for all men once to die. And that consequently, it is necessary to settle of my worldly affairs whilst I am in a capacity and proper frame of mind to do the same, do make and ordain the following my last will and testament, that is to say, IMPRIMES, it is my will and desire that all my just debts and funeral charges be paid by my Executor out of my estate. Item: I give and bequeath unto my loving wife Sarah Wood the privilege of my dwelling house on plantation, with my son John Wood, hereafter mentioned during her natural life and the 777 of all my lands and also one Negro man named Jack, one Negro woman named Nenny and one Negro girl named Nannah, and all the rest and residue of my personal estate after payment of debts and funeral charges above mentioned and after payment and deduction of the several bequests and legacies hereafter devised. Item: I give and bequeath unto my eldest daughter Mary Clary one Negro girl named Ruth to her and her heirs forever. Item: I give and bequeath unto my eldest son Charles Wood five pounds current money to be paid by my Executors out of my estate.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my son Benjamin Wood twenty-five pounds current money to be paid by Executors out of my estate. Item: I give and bequeath unto my daughter Sarah Lamb, five pounds current money to be paid by my Executors out of my estate.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my son Basil Wood part of my lands called The Grove beginning at a marked red oak sapling standing on or near John's Bright Wall's land and running thence South twenty nine degrees west one hundred and thirteen 777 South eighty five degrees east 777 777 South seven degrees West thirty six perches South 777 two degrees East to strike the outlines of the whole survey so as to include the land 777, at the South East end of the whole tract and now distinguished on the plat of said land by number one to him my said son Basil Wood, his heirs and assigns for ever.

Item: I likewise give and bequeath unto my said son Basil Wood and his heirs one Negro boy named Jack and four head of sheep. Item: I give and bequeath to my son Peter Wood and his heirs one Negro girl named Sarah, and one young mare colt, the foal of a mare called Taddy. Item: I give and bequeath unto my son Henry Wood part of my Land called The Grove beginning at a bounded 777 on the East side of the spring branch running down from the old dwelling and running thence south twenty degrees West seventy perches to a marked white oak sapling South eighty degrees East

Subject: Re: Lydia Dent

The following is from the book "This Was The Life", which contains excerpts from the judgement records of Frederick Co. during the period 1748-1763. The book was authored by Willard Milburn Rice and was copyrighted in 1973. It is thought that the author died recently in Frederick Co. and was aged in the nineties.

"The suit of Lydia Dent against Charles Wood was for breach of promise. Charles Wood, late of Frederick County, planter, was attached to answer unto Lydia Dent of a plea of trespass upon the case and whereupon the said Lydia by Henry Barnall, her attorney, complains that whereas the said Charles while sole (i.e., unmarried), to wit: on the twenty-fifth day of February 1747 at Frederick County aforesaid within the jurisdiction of the Court in consideration that the said Lydia then and there being sole and unmarried at the special instance and request of the said Charles then and there undertook and faithfully promised the said Charles to marry him, the said Charles. He, the said Charles, undertook and faithfully promised the said Lydia that he, the said Charles, would be joined to the said Lydia in lawful matrimony and although she, the said Lydia, was always ready and willing from the time of making her said promise and undertaking to be joined to the said Charles in lawful matrimony, that is to say, at Frederick County aforesaid the jurisdiction aforesaid. Nevertheless, the said Charles his promise and assumption aforesaid not regarding but minding and fraudulently intending the same Lydia in this part craftily and subtilly to deceive and defraud the said Lydia to be his wife to take did altogether refuse and still doth refuse and after the promise and assumption aforesaid, to wit, on the 10th day of May 1748 at Frederick County aforesaid within the jurisdiction aforesaid did take to his wife another woman, to wit, Sarah Brightwell, now his wife contrary to his promise and assumption aforesaid to the damage of the said Lydia Dent 100 lbs. current money of Maryland and therefore she brings suit, etc. And the aforesaid Charles Wood by Edward Dorney, his attorney, comes and defends the force and injury when etc. and prays license thereof to imparle here until the next County Court."

"Charles Wood by his attorney appeared in several Courts and in each case asked for permission of imparle, which means of course that he wanted a continuance. It finally came down to this particular Court, and a jury was impaneled as follows: Edward Beatty, Moana Chapline, Harbert Wallace, Peter Stull, Joseph Dodridge, John Johnson of Kittocton, Shadrack Wyatt, Elias DeLashmott, James Spurgeon, George Bond, Thomas Stoddert, and Patrick Matthews. The jury decided for the plaintiff, Lydia Dent."

"The Court ordered that Lydia Dent recover from Wood damages assessed at 30 lbs. current money and also 1,443 pounds of tobacco for her costs and charges."

Surname meaning for "Miller"

English and Scottish: occupational name for a miller. The standard modern vocabulary word represents the northern Middle English term, an agent derivative of mille 'mill', reinforced by Old Norse mylnari (see Milner). In southern, western, and central England Millward (literally, 'mill keeper') was the usual term. The American surname has absorbed many cognate surnames from other European languages, for example French Meunier, Dumoulin, Demoulins, and Moulin; German Mueller; Dutch Molenaar; Italian Molinaro; Spanish Molinero; Hungarian Molnár; Slavic Mlinar, etc.

Chapter 15

James Monroe Barber

James Monroe Barber was born 17 January 1852, Nacogdoches County, Texas, the fourth child of Silas H. and Sarah Ann (Posey) Barber. He married Sarah Emoline Wood, 2 November 1876 in Limestone County, Texas.

Sarah E. Wood was the daughter of Eli Newton and Elizabeth J. Wood, born 6 February 1856 in Tennessee, died 31 July 1916, Wagoner, Oklahoma.[1]118

James and Sarah moved to Comanche County, Texas in 1880,[2]119 then to Indian Territory in 1889, as James was 1/4 Creek Indian.

James M. Barber and his wife had land in the Creek Nation not far from Wagoner. He served as assistant prosecuting attorney for the Creek Nation, Broken Arrow Town, for two years. He lost his farm when the Dawes Commission ruled that he had not stated his mother's name (Sarah Ann Posey Barber), and had not proved that he was at least 1/4 Creek Indian, and did not meet the residency requirements of the Creek Nation. Ironically, two of his brothers, Robert and John, were both on the Creek Indian Rolls at this time. One of his daughters, Pearl Howard, and one of his granddaughters, Doris Powell, proved their Indian blood in 1968, and received a small allotment.[3]120

Obituary of James Monroe Barber

) James Monroe Barber was born in Natchidoches County, Texas, January 17, 1852, and died November 17, 1940. He came to Wagoner in December 1889 and settled at Blue Mound where he lived until 1904.

He was converted and joined the Baptist Church a Mt. Calm, in Texas in 1878. He was married to Sarah E. Wood in Limestone County, Texas in 1877. To this union eleven children were born, four of whom died in infancy.

He leaves to mourn his departure, seven children, four daughters, Mrs. J.C. Casaver, Wagoner, Mrs. Bertie Gibson, Ada, Mrs. W.C. Hollis of Pryor, and Mrs. Pearl Howard of Oklahoma City; three sons, John S. Barber, Vinita, N.L. Barber, Tulsa, and Davis D. Barber of Erick. One sister Mrs. Sudie Coker of Parson, Kansas. One brother, R.W. Barber Barber of Okmulgee and one sister-in-law, Mrs. May Barber of Oklahoma City. Twenty-five grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends.

Services were held Tuesday from the First Baptist Church at Wagoner, Oklahoma with Rev. D.H. Corwin in charge assisted by Rev. D.A. Spiller and Rev. McCoy.

Burial was made in the family lot at Wagoner by the side of his wife who died twenty-three years ago, and in view of Blue Mound, the old home place settled in 1889.

James M. Barber died two months before his 89th birthday.

Memories of Mrs. Pearl Barber Howard, written shortly before her death, 6 May 1974

"Born in Texas... list in cotton page.. put cotton seen in nose.. my father (James M. Barber) came to I. T. and got a place to live... moved his things in Box car... mama's father (E. N. Wood) gave her 2 cows, they were always hers... male cattle for papa to sell or use for food... she and us children rode the passenger train... a farmer lived on Bill Creek and we lived there until we built our house... orchard... grass was high as a horse's back.

"We settled 2 1/2 miles west of Wagoner at the foot of Blue Mount. planted... The M.K. & T.R.R. had just come through... There was only 1 general store and a Hotel. F. M. Davis owned the store and my Father used him for his Banker... He took care of our money and we could get it back as we need it... He was a great friend... my youngest brother Davis was named for him.

"We made friends with the Indians... Judge Mingo was one of the best... wanted his children to learn white folks way... Emma, Si, Tiecha, Wantea, but his wife and his other children did not like white folks. We went to their Stomp dances. My big sister and I went around with them... some Indian girls called me Iscariki...

"All the neighbors built our own schoool and hired a teacher, Miss Mabel Thomas was a wonder young woman, her father was a colporter... held services in train car in morning and the church at night. Wagoner had grown very fast and our pastor was R. L. Naylor. He baptized me when I was 14. Many of our relatives settled near us. Papa and Mama helped them get settled... stayed in our home. Later two men came bout our place selling organs in a Spring Wagon... a fine team. My father bought the organ, wagon and team. He hired a tutor to live with us and teach my sisters to play the organ, paint, do fancy work and et ...Miss Rose..

"The grass grew as high as horse back so my father went in to the Hay business (no weeds). He bought a hay bailer, had 2 crews of men, 1 white and a black woman cook all needs, implements. Built a large barn 40 x 80 to store... We had about 60 head of cattle and about 40 head of horses. He bought Mama a Surrey and a one horse buggy for himself...

"Were attending school in the school house all the neighbors built. At Christmas we had a Christmas tree. I played Santa Claus and my girl friend Eve played my wife. I still remember my speech to the children. We had Sunday afternoon for... We went to to church A. M. and night... Dr. Edwards did the preaching. We had all of them out to our house for dinner. Bro Naylor and wife love... We had about 13 great hogs butchered and smoking in the Smoke house. My mother always saw that they took a big Ham home with them. When he had to be out of town they got me to stay with her.

"We closed up our school and began going to town, "Central College" located in Wagoner. My oldest sister married and I stayed with her and went to C. C. It had pupils from all over I. T. that stayed in Dormitory. But we went as day scholars. Later the city bought the building for a hi-school and hospital and dormitory...

"We loved our Blue Mound... We took our visitors to the top to see the View. We could see all the towns around. The Mound had solid rock through it. My Father gave the town of Wagoner enough rock to build a court house. The Mound could be plainly seen from town and it looked a beautiful Blue. I loved my home and family, we thought our father was the greatest and my mother was so wonderful to us.

"I've thought a lot about our Horses. They were so different, I wish I could write a book about the personality of a horse. We had a grey mare that would not work at anything except mowing. She would balk at anything, but happy as could be when she and another pulled the hay mower. She had a beautiful colt that my father used as his buggy horse, as he has attended the shipping shipping of the baled hay in cars. One terrible night some one set fire to our Hay Barber full of hay ready to be shipped out. He had waited for prices to go up and the time was right. All the hay and barn was burned. But we never found out who did it. All our money was tied up in it. Papa sold the horses and cows and etc and went in business in Porter. I got a postion running the post office for the P.M. I met and married a good looking young man. I worked until I was pregnant. 2 1/2 years later my daughter was born. I've had 6 sons, all were in W.W. II except the youngest he was in the Korean War. They all came safely home. They all married and have homes and very too good to me. Their Dad died in '38. I was so lonesome and worried about the boys, I got a job at the Hospital and bought a home large enough to make a duplex so I could pay for it.

"The Dear Lord has been so good to me. I joined the Aid Society (in Porter) with 10 women and my mother and sister. We worked and raised

There should be just a tad more in this obit like a nice picture and a list of his numerous to put it mildly, accomplishments but this is not want Jack would want because that's Jack.

Husband, Father, Grandpa, Friend, Employer are all titles that fit him as they fit many but there was really so much more that he would not want you to know because that's Jack.

You often hear how one would give you the shirt off their back if you needed it but lets be honest most would loan you a old shirt that they do not even wear anymore but not Jack. He literally would because that's Jack.

It is quite a coincidence how this man past on St Patrick's Day for there are countless and I do mean countless examples of those who felt the luck of the Irish after a encounter with this man and even more who are not aware of his indirect influence a situation that was made better by him but you never and I

Expertise: Newsroom managers
Prescott, Arizona

Q: * As one who thinks "social media" only separates us further and promotes "140 character" thinking, I was surprised and disappointed at the change to requiring a social media account in order to write to the Editor. Why is knowing the identity of the writer more important than the idea being put forth? It's really rather Orwellian. Only the politically correct herd objects to ideas submitted anonymously

A: Some of that concerns legality and others accountability. However, while The Daily Courier has shifted to Facebook...

Q: * When are they going to break ground on the new casino? I thought it was happening last fall yet no signs of construction.

A: The tribe, so far, has no comment but acknowledges the project is still in the works. Watch for an update article.

mean never heard it from him because that's Jack.

There are those who walk past a pan handler, head down, eyes away. There are those who stop and give up some change or maybe even a buck or 2 but there are not many that feed them, hire them and give them shelter but he did because that's Jack.

There are not many that would sink money into a business year after year with never a profit because of the lives it would effect if it was not in service.

That would be that city bus you see rolling around Prescott. It has never turned a profit but it sure has made life a whole lot easier for a lot of folks in Prescott and there was never a thought of shutting it down because,,, that's Jack.

You could be a Harvard Grad or in a homeless shelter and you would be treated with the same respect because that's Jack.

If I had a dollar for all the dollars he paid folks down on their luck to sweep parking lots that were not dirty or wash vehicles that were clean I would be a very rich man. This man use to drive people on state aid to medical appointments all across the state and though he did get paid for this as it was his company, what many do not know is the numerous folks that came out of their appointments with a few bags of groceries waiting for them. You never heard this from Jack. You would only hear it from those folks who would tell you he told them not to tell anyone and then they would tell you not to tell anyone and you would not tell Jack because you knew he would get mad because that's Jack.>

I could go on and I mean really could go on but out of respect for Jack I am going to compromise and let these examples of his character and heart be the end of this as I know if I listed everything it would take forever and Jack would not like that because that's Jack.

I would be remiss if I did not add that beside him with equality in each and every act was his wife Bernice to which I offer my deepest sympathy to as I do to the rest of the Silvernale family. '

Saint Peter is telling a angel all about a new arrival.

I would bet he just said,,,,,that's Jack.

On this 12th day of December, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, personally appeared before me, an acting Justice of the Peace, within and for the county and State aforesaid, Caleb S. Wood, aged 62 years, a resident of Henderson County, in the State of Tennessee, who being duly sworn according to law, declares upon his oath that he is the son of Charles Wood, who was a Corporal in Captain John Summers' Company, and served in the Continental Line in North and South Carolina and was in prison in Charleston, S.C. in 1790. He further declares that his father, Charles Wood, died in Roane County in the State of Tennessee in the year 1822 leaving his mother Rosa Wood a widow. He further declares that his father and mother were married in Bedford County, in the State of Virginia previous to his father going into service.

He further declares that his mother Rosa Wood died in the year 1837 leaving sixteen children, ten of whom are now living, namely, Thomas, Caleb S., Jesse L, Christopher, Frank, John, and William, Elizabeth Miller, Anna Davis, Nancy Wilkenson.

He makes this declaration for the purpose of receiving the pension money due his mother Rosa Wood, for the benefit of himself and brothers and sisters, under the Act of Congress ?passed July 9th, 1822.

Sir:

In reply to your letter of the 22nd ultimo, relative to the informal application of the children of Rosa Wood, dec^d, I can only say that the declaration was sworn before a Justice of the Peace, who was, and is, a member of the ?Quorum Court, which is a court of record, at the time the court was in session. That it was not done in the courthouse, yet it was done before a court of record. This is a small matter, and one that can be easily ?remedied. The family record of Caleb Wood shows that he was born in 1791, but there are many children older than him, which can be proven.

??? from the military records of North Carolina will state, that it is traditionally known to the children, that their father was imprisoned by the British at Charleston, S.C. during the War of Revolution which is sufficient to identify his service.

I am respectfully your obdn^Ot. servt,
George W. Talbot

Arrest Warrant

1822 Arrest & Indictment of Caleb Wood State of Tennessee. To the Sheriff of Roane county: Greeting. You are hereby commanded to take the body of Caleb Wood instantly, if to be found in your county, and him safely keep so that you have him before the Justices of our Court of Pleas & Quarter Sessions now sitting for said County, at the Courthouse, in Kingston, then and there to answer a charge of the state exhibited against him by an Indictment for and assault and battery. And have then there this writ. Witness, Henry Breazeale, Clerk of said Court, at office, in Kingston, the 4th Monday in July, A.D. 1822. State of Tennessee, Roane County, July Session, 1822. The grand jurors for the state, elected, impaneled, sworn, and charged to inquire for the body of the County aforesaid upon their oath present that a certain Caleb Wood, late of said county labors on the twenty-second day of July 1822 at to wit in said county with force and arms, an assault did make upon the body of a certain John Oliver and with the said John did then and there greatly beat, wound, and ill treat him, cause damage and against the peace and dignity of the state. W. A. Anderson, Atty. Genl. For the 4th District. Roane Co. TN - Caleb Wood, Assault & Battery, 1815 Transcribed by: Tricia Bledsoe bledsoe@icx.net

Caleb Wood - Assault and Battery - April 1815 Roane County, TN Witness Docket Book 1802-1815 shows: State versus Caleb Wood, Witnesses: Elisha Williamson, Sally Williamson, Casey Reynolds, Jesse Matlock, April 1815. Roane County Court Minutes (located in the new {current} courthouse): April 20, 1815, The State versus Caleb Wood: This day came as well the State by her Attorney Thomas Emmerson, Esquire, and the Defendant in his proper person, and therefore came a jury to wit: (long list of hard-to-read names), who being elected and sworn will and truly (several unreadable words) a true verdict give. According to the evidence, do say the defendant is guilty of the assault in the Bill of Indictment charged but that he is not guilty of the battery wherefore the court assesses his fine to fifty cents. Whereupon Gilbreath Bartow and William Morgan appeared in open court and confessed Judgment for the fine and cost. Therefore it is considered by the court that the State of Tennessee recover against the Defendant and Gilbreath Bartow and William Morgan the fine assessed by this court and the cost (can't read this word) behalf expended. Roane County, TN Archives (located in the old, pre-Civil War, courthouse) has a file folder mislabeled "Caleb Woody" with the following information: State of Tennessee, To the Sheriff of Roane County, Greetings. You are hereby commanded that of the goods, chattels, lands, and tenements of CALEB WOODS, Gilbreath Barlow, and William Morgan, his security (?or surety?) you cause to be made the sum of fourteen dollars, sixty-six and 1/2 cents which the state, lately in our Court of Pleas and quarter (can't read this word) held for the County of Roane. Recover against the said Caleb Wood for fine and costs whereof the said Caleb, Gilbreath, and William are to wit liable as to us appears of record. And have you the said money ready to render before the Justice of our said court at the Courthouse in Kingston on the 3rd Monday of July next. And have you then thereby (can't read this word). Witness Henry Breazeale, Clerk of our said court at office in Kinston the 3rd Monday of April 1815 and 39th year of American Independence.

Signed Henry Breazeale. On the back of this page, the $14.66-1/2 was split as follows: Clerk = $3.00, Sheriff Brown = $1.91-1/2, Atry Emmerson = $2.50, ?Goins Eblen = $1.75, Witness E. Williamson = $2.00, Witness S. Williamson = $1.00, Witness Casey Reynolds = $1.00, Witness Jesse Matlock = $1.00, and a fine of $.50 was added.

Note: I haven't yet figured out how to find the Sheriff's files to learn whom Caleb Wood had assaulted when he was arrested, or how to find the bail/bonds files to learn whether Caleb's friends had to post money or property. Tricia Bledsoe 7/21/99. Roane County, TN County Court Minutes (located in the new {current} courthouse): July 24, 1822, The State versus Caleb Woods: Came the Attorney General and the Defendant in their proper persons who submits to the court and the court having assessed his fine to $.50. Daniel Thomas and James Hankins came into court and together with the Defendant confessed judgment (can't read two words) give aforesaid and the costs. Therefore it is considered by the court that the State recover of the Defendant and Daniel Thomas and James Hankins the (can't read this word) the fine aforesaid and the costs in his behalf (can't read this word) for which execution may (can't read the last word). Note: Haven't yet found any record of the charges against Caleb Wood in this. Tricia Bledsoe 7/21/99. Roane Co. TN - The State versus Caleb Woods, 1822 Submitted by: Tricia Bledsoe bledsoe@icx.net

County of Hamilton, S. C.

On this 12th day of December, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty three, personally appeared before me an acting Justice of the Peace, John A. Smith, one of the county and state officers, Gabe S. Smith, aged 25 years, a resident army in South Carolina and Georgia and is now in prison in Hamilton, Ala. in 1864.

He further declares that his father Thomas
Smith died in Hamilton county in the State of Tennessee in the year 1857. Following the death of his father, a widow Elizabeth Smith declares that her father and mother were married in Tennessee county, in the State of Tennessee, previous to her father's present death. He further declares that his mother, Mary Smith, died in the year

1857 leaving behind children two of whom are now living, namely, Thomas Smith and S. S. Smith, both of whom are

Edward Winslow of the Mayflower
EDWARD WINSLOW OF THE MAYFLOWER

Among those on board the ship Mayflower when it finally reached New England in November, 1620 were Edward Winslow and his wife Elizabeth. Winslow was born October 18, 1594 in Droitwich, Worcestershire, England. He was called a printer of London when he was married on May 16, 1618 in Leyden, Holland to Elizabeth Barker. A religious group called the Separatists had fled from England to Holland to escape the fines and punishments for their illegal religious practices. Edward Winslow was one of the influential leaders of this religious group. After about 10 years in Holland, the Separatists found that jobs were hard to find and they were poor. They did not approve of the Dutch customs and way of life, and they did not approve of their children mixing with the Dutch children. They wanted to keep their English customs and their own religion, so they decided to go to the Newworld in search of religious freedom. After several financial and political problems, two ships were obtained. The Speedwell (which leaked and could not make the trip) sailed from Leyden, Holland with the Separatists. And the Mayflower sailed from Southampton, England with the London and English group. One problem after another delayed their departure until they had to cross the stormy North Atlantic Ocean during a bad time of the year. After 66 miserable days at sea with 102 passengers packed in that tiny ship, they finally anchored near Provincetown on Cape Cod in Massachusetts. Because of the mumbling and grumbling on board the ship, an agreement was signed by 41 men, including Edward Fuller, called the Mayflower Compact. This famous historic document is an example of our country's earliest democratic government.

Winslow was one of the 10 men who explored the shores of Cape Cod in search of a suitable site to establish Plymouth Colony. It was December and very cold before the area at Plymouth Rock was finally selected. Today we call this group of people who settled there the Pilgrims. Edward Winslow survived that first terrible winter when half of those who had just arrived perished from some unidentified epidemic, but wife Elizabeth died. He was married again in Plymouth on May 12, 1621 to Susanna (-----) White, widow of Pilgrim William White of the Mayflower. This was the first marriage performed in Plymouth Colony.

Edward Winslow was a Colony Assistant many times and served as Colony Governor in 1633, 1636 and 1635. In 1623 he had returned to England to transact business for the Colony and returned the next year with supplies as well as three heifers and a bull (these were Plymouth's first cattle). He went to London again in 1630 and 1635, and in 1646 he was employed there in Oliver Cromwell's government. Edward Winslow died aboard ship and was buried at sea on May 8, 1655. The only known portrait of a Pilgrim is that of Edward Winslow, which hangs in Pilgrim Hall Museum in Plymouth.

Edward Winslow had five children but only two lived to marry and have children:
1. JOSIAH married PENELOPE PELHAM and had four children.
2. ELIZABETH married ROBERT BROOKS and GEORGE CORWIN and had two daughters.

Which child of Pilgrim Edward Winslow is your Mayflower ancestor?

The Fighting Martins of Ninety-Six, South Carolina

THE MARTINS OF MARTINTOWN

John A. Chapman. History of Edgefield County From the Earliest Settlements to 1897. Newberry SC, 1897. Pp. 392-3. The Martin family, of Martintown, in Edgefield County, were prominent, brave, active, and energetic Whigs during the Revolution, but as Martintown has long since gone to decay, and as the family, from whom the name was derived, is almost or quite extinct in Edgefield, it might please the reader of this book to find here a few items of the family history.

I am indebted to the Honorable John Martin, United States Senator from Kansas, for the following information: The Martin family was of Scotch-Irish origin. The family emigrated from the North of Ireland somewhere towards the close of the sixteenth century (should be I think seventeenth) and settled originally in Caroline County, Virginia. The family was a large one, there being seven sons and one daughter. The names of the sons were: Abram, John, George, William, Matthew, Barclay, and Edmund. The daughter's name was Letty [Letitia]. They resided in Virginia for many years, and finally scattered to Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Ohio, and South Carolina. The head of the South Carolina branch of the family, Abram Martin, was born in Caroline County, Virginia, in the year 1708, and there grew to manhood and married Miss Elizabeth Marshall, of Caroline County, who was said to be a niece of the father of John Marshall, afterwards Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Soon after his marriage he moved to South Carolina and located in Edgefield District and there lived and died.

He had eight sons, as follows: William Martin, James Martin, John Martin, George Martin, Barclay Martin, Edmund Martin, Marshall Martin, Matt Martin, and one daughter, Letty Martin. Of these children, William, the eldest, married Miss Grace Waring and left three children, Robert, Elizabeth, and William. He was captain of artillery and was killed at the siege of Augusta. It was this Mrs. Martin who, in conjunction with Mrs. Barclay Martin, born Rachel Clay, captured the British courier with dispatches while on his way from Augusta to Ninety-Six, as elsewhere related.

The third son, John Martin, was an officer during the Revolution, Brigadier after the war, and served several years in the Legislature. He was married three times and left many children, one of whom was Judge W. D. Martin, of whom something has already been written. John Martin died in Abbeville District in 1813. Several of this prolific family rose to distinction. Charles was an officer in the Confederate Army and was killed in the battle of Kennesaw Mountain. John Martin, Senator from Kansas in 1894, is a grandson of Matthew Martin of the Revolution, who moved to Tennessee and died there in 1846. Many more names might be added to this roll of the Martins, all worthy, all true men and women; but if all were written that might be written of the children of Edgefield abroad, it would embrace the world, and the book would soon grow to unwieldy size. <http://www.sciway3.net/clark/revolutionarywar/PioneerMothers>.

page 336 Pioneer Mothers of America (copy sent to me by a faithful younger reader of these pages!) The Fighting Martins of "Ninety-six" An act of audacious bravery was performed by two fun-loving but patriotic young women of South Carolina, during that last checkered campaign of General Greene, that will ever add interest to the early annals of the State. ³ Mrs. Abram Martin was the Spartan mother of seven sons, all of whom were soldiers fighting for independence. The two eldest were married, and their wives, Mrs. Grace Martin and Mrs. Rachel Martin, lived with their mother-in-law, not far from Fort Ninety-six in the Edgefield district. They were mere girls, scarcely out of their teens, Grace, the wife of the eldest son, having been married when she was fourteen. They were bright, mischievous young women skilled in woodcraft, full of fun, and courageous as a woman had need to be in a section over-run with British soldiers, Tories, and guerillas. Late one afternoon word was received at the Martin homestead that a courier, bearing important dispatches to one of the upper stations, was to pass along the road, fronting the house, very shortly. The courier was being escorted by two British soldiers. Said Mrs. Rachel, banteringly, "if you were a soldier's wife, I'd dare you to join me in capturing that courier and his papers for General Greene." Grace Martin's husband was an officer, whose promotion had been won for daring and bravery in many battles. Consequently her answer was to have been expected. "Soldier's wife," said Mrs. Grace scornfully, "I dare do anything that you can do."

The plan was quickly matured. They would don their husband's uniforms, and as both were tall, well-formed girls they trusted that in the dusk of the evening their sex might not be recognised. In the half-light, with rifles over their shoulders and pistols in their belts they were in fact quite formidable looking soldiers. At least the British guards thought so when the pair sprang out from behind a rail fence near the Martin home, where the three travellers had to pass through a gap in the fence, and called upon them to halt. Taken entirely unawares and with guns cocked but a few feet from their heads, there was nothing for them to do except to surrender, which they promptly did with both hands up.

"We want those papers," said Mistress Grace in as deep a voice as she could command. The courier and the two young officers who were acting as escort were too much frightened to notice the voice, and the papers were handed over at once, after which the two young women, with a great show of magnanimity, paroled them, not knowing what else to do with them. The discomfited Britons turned about and rode slowly back. Taking a short cut through the woods the young women reached their home and had resumed their wonted garb when the three British soldiers appeared and asked for shelter for the night. Mrs. Martin, the elder, asked them, in all innocence, how it was that they were returning so soon after having but recently passed the house. They replied by showing their paroles and acknowledged frankly that they had been taken prisoners by two young rebels, armed with rifles, who had come upon them so suddenly that they had no time to defend themselves. Shelter was given to them for the night and they rode away next morning with never a suspicion that the two merry-eyed young women with whom they had conversed at the breakfast table were the rebel lads who had led them captive. It is perhaps unnecessary to say that the captured despatches had been forwarded to General Greene's headquarters by a trusted messenger within an hour after they were taken.

Mrs. Abram Martin was a woman of strong personality. She had eight sons and one daughter. Seven of her sons and her son-in-law, Captain Wade of Virginia, entered the service at the opening of the war. Captain Wade fell with his commander, Richard Montgomery, at the siege of Quebec and his widow and his little son, George Washington Wade, lived with Mrs. Martin. Her eldest son, William M. Martin, was a captain of artillery, and after serving with distinguished bravery at the sieges of Savannah and Charleston, was killed at the siege of Augusta. He was married to Miss Grace Waring, daughter of Benjamin Waring of Dorchester. Her husband's death left her with three children. Barkley Martin, the second son, was married to Rachel Clay, daughter of Henry Clay, Jr., of Mecklenburg, Va., a first cousin of Henry Clay of Tennessee. Rachel Clay's sister was married to another of the "Fighting Martins of Ninety-six" and their son, another Barkley Martin, was a member of Congress in the forties.

One of the traditions in the family was that when the British were in possession of Fort Ninety-six, an English officer rode out to the Martin home one day and asked the old lady, who sat with her daughter-in-law, "Didn't you have a son in the army at Augusta?" "I did," replied the aged mother, scarcely able to restrain her tears. "Well, I saw his head shot off," replied the officer, with a malicious grin. If he anticipated any pleasure in seeing the agony of a wife and mother he must have been chagrined, as the only reply of the mother was, "He could not have died in a better cause."

The stories of Emily Geiger, Rebecca Motte, Dicey Langston, the Martins, and other daring and patriotic women of South Carolina are well authenticated by Dr.

Ramsey's Recollections and History of South Carolina, the Memoirs of Generals Lee and Sumter, and personal interviews with direct descendants by Mrs. Ellett and hers.

Amherst County Virginia Will

Amherst County Virginia Will Book 1 page 2791771 September 25, WILL: Made, Amherst Co, VA

1775 March 6, Will Proved, Amherst Co, VA.

WILL: Recorded Book I, Page 279, Amherst Co, VA.

In the name of God Amen, I James Martin of the Parish & County of Amherst, VA, being in perfect health & of sound memory, but calling to mind the mortality of my body & that it is appointed to all men once to die, do make this my last Will & Testament revoking all other & former Wills by me heretofore made. And in the first place I recommend my soul to God who gave it & my body to the earth to be peacefully interred at the discretion of my executors herein after mentioned & for such worldly goods as it hath pleased God to bless me with in this life. My will & desire is that they be disposed of in the following manner. That is to say I will that all my personal estate of what kind soever these shall be, shall be sold by my executors & that out of the money arising by the sale thereof all my just debts & funeral charges shall be paid & satisfied.

ITEM: I give & bequeath to my son, Azariah Martin, the tract of land whereon I now live, lying on the North Branch of the Rockfish River containing 360 acres and my 4 Negro slaves to wit: Tom, Jane, Issac & Betty & the future increase of the said Jean & Betty to hold to him & his heirs forever & also I give to him 1 feather bed, furniture, 2 cows and all my tables, chairs, 3 iron pots & looking glass

ITEM: I give & bequeath to my son, John Martin & his heirs forever my 3 Negro slaves: Sarah, Beck & young Chaney & their future increase.

ITEM: I give & bequeath to my son William Martin & his heirs forever, my 4 Negro slaves: James, Lucy, Nathan & old Chaney & the future increase of the said Lucy & Chaney.

ITEM: I give & bequeath to my son, James Martin & his heirs forever my 4 Negro slaves: Ann, John, Bob & Rachel & the future increase of the said Ann & Rachel.

ITEM: I give & bequeath to my son, David Martin & his heirs forever my 3 Negro slaves: Manchester, David & Patty & the future increase of the said Patty.

ITEM: I give & bequeath to my son-in-law, William Terril Lewis, 10 pounds of current money.

ITEM: I give & bequeath to my son-in-law, Thomas Anthony 70 pounds of current money.

ITEM: It is my desire that the 10 pounds given to William Terril Lewis & the 70 pounds given to Thomas Anthony be raised out of the sale of my personal estate & if there should be money wanting to make up the said sums above mentioned, that my sons David, John, William & Azariah Martin each of them pay an equal part to make up the said sums of 10 pounds to William Terril Lewis & the 70 pounds to Thomas Anthony. Whereas I have given my son, Obediah Martin, my bond for 165 pounds & 2 shillings payable at my decease which I gave him as his part of my estate—and it is my desire that he shall have no more. I also, give to my son, Azariah Martin, my 2 Negros, Usley & Betty & the future increase to him & his heirs forever. Also, I give to my son, James Martin & his heirs forever my Negro slave, Milly & her future increase. Also, I give to my son William Martin, my Negro slave, Sam to him & his heirs forever. It is my desire that my sons, Azariah, James & William Martin do pay the above mentioned sum of 165 pounds & 2 shillings to my son, Obediah Martin in consideration of their last mentioned legacies. And their last mentioned legacies shall be valued by 3 in different persons & each of them the said, Azariah, James, & William Martin shall pay in proportion to the value of their legacies. And lastly I do appoint my 3 sons, William, James & Azariah Martin to be executors of this my last will & testament. In witness whereof I signed, sealed & published this my last will & testament this 25th day of September 1771.

Note that in the bequest to James Martin, my Negro, Bob is interlined. Signed: James Martin (LS) Signed, sealed & published in the presence of: Francis Meriwether, William Depriest, Samuel Cowell.

Death date of Ellender Dooley Martin

An article about the life of Henry Martin from The Comanche Chief, written 23 Sept 1882 tells about the death of his first wife. It says:

In the fall of 1852 he started for Texas. While on the way he was delayed by high water in St. Francis County, Arkansas. While there, his wife, Elinder, sickened and died. Mrs. Martin was in every respect a dutiful, good, Christian woman. The date of her death was December the 5th, 1852. She was long a member of the Methodist church, and her dying words were an exhortation to her family to lead Christian lives, in preparation for the great change she was then experiencing.

Comanche County History

Historical Marker:
COMANCHE COUNTY

First settled in 1854 by five families, the county, created and organized 1856, was named for Comanche Indians, lords of Texas frontier, who were losing hunting grounds to settlers. First county seat was Cora. Comanche has been county seat since July 18, 1859. Indians harassed settlers, stealing cattle and horses, and keeping farmers out of fields. Food from neighboring Bell County kept people here from starvation in 1862. By 1879 a stage line crossed county; the Texas Central Railroad came through in 1880; Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railroad in 1890. An oil boom occurred in 1918-1920. Agriculture has long been major industry. (1967)

1936 Texas Centennial Marker:

COMANCHE COUNTY

Created January 25, 1856.

Organized May 17, 1856.

Named for the Comanche Indians, nomads of the Plains; successful hunters, superb horsemen, and courageous warriors; the terror of Texas frontier settlers, who dispossessed them of their hunting grounds.

County Seat Troy (changed to Cora), 1856;

Cora, Texas Forum

Subject: Cora, Comanche County, Texas

My great great grandfather was Francis Marion Collier (FM Collier) and his son Thomas Anderson was the first white child to be born in Comanche county after Frank built a log cabin for his wife Julia Grayson to give birth in. Or at least that is what my father told me. I would love to have more information about the town of Cora, like the exact location and what happened for the town to die. Thanks, Elizabeth Collier, March 25, 2013

History in a Pecan Shell

Comanche County was organized in 1856 and the following year 80 acres overlooking the river were donated to be the seat of government. Initially the name of Troy was submitted for a post office, but Bell County had beat them to the name.

Miss Cora Beeman of Bell County became the namesake of the village, being nominated for the honor by Thomas C. Frost, Comanche County land agent. Her name was accepted and in 1857 Cora, Texas was officially included on maps.

Shortly thereafter Hamilton County acquired some land from Comanche County, redistributing Comanche County's acreage and putting Cora far from the geographic center of the county.

Comanche was created, and officially became the county seat in 1859.

Meanwhile, back at Cora, the double whammy of Indian misbehavior and loss of county seat status left the village with only 136 people for the 1860 census.

Cora's post office closed its doors in 1867 and by 1900 nothing was left but a cemetery. A replica of Cora's log courthouse is now a part of the Comanche square.

Historical Marker Text

Cora

Founded 1854, as Troy. Later renamed in honor of a Miss Beeman of Bell County. In 1856 organization of Comanche County--then extending farther south and east than today's boundaries--Cora became county seat. A log cabin residence in Cora was the first Comanche County courthouse, serving until the county seat was relocated in 1859 in new town of Comanche.

That first courthouse and all the other buildings are gone from site of Old Cora. Only a cemetery--the oldest in Comanche County--remains. Thus Cora is an example of the many early, important towns no longer existent in Texas.

In the 254 counties of Texas, there have been 126 cases of redesignation of county seats. (Two counties have had five county seats each.) Boundary changes (as in Comanche County), shifts in travel routes (as when railroads were built), changes from agrarian to industrial economy have caused counties to move their county seats to new locations. Old courthouses have found later usefulness as ranch headquarters, municipal buildings, or private homes. The first log cabin courthouse of Comanche County reverted to use as a residence, but later was restored and used--as are many former courthouses--as part of a museum.

Old Cora Courthouse

Soon after the creation of Comanche County in 1856, the town of Cora (10 mi. SE) was platted to serve as the county seat. The courthouse in Cora, typical of many early Texas courthouses, was a 12' 7" x 12" 10", one-room, squared log structure. It served the county until the seat of government was moved to Comanche in 1859. The "Old Cora" Courthouse was incorporated into a house built about 1880 and has been moved several times over the years. It stands as a reminder of the now-extinct town of Cora and of early Texas courthouse

- In 1856, the Texas legislature formed Comanche County from Coryell and Bosque counties. Cora community, named after Cora Beeman of Bell County, was designated as the county seat.^[7]
- Comanche became the county seat in 1859.^[8]
- As of 1860, the county population was 709 persons, including 61 slaves.^[3]
- The Comanche Chief^[9] began publication in 1873. Editor Joe Hill's brother, Robert T. Hill, worked on the newspaper while developing his esteemed career as a geologist.^[10]
- John Wesley Hardin and his gang celebrated his 21st birthday in 1874 in Brown and Comanche counties. Deputy Charles Webb drew his gun, provoking a gunfight that ended Webb's life. A lynch mob was formed, but Hardin and his family were put into protective custody. The mob broke into the jail and hanged his brother Joe and two cousins. Hardin fled.^[11]
- In 1877, John Wesley Hardin was arrested on a train in Pensacola, Florida by Texas Rangers and a local authority while traveling under the alias James W. Swain.^[12] Hardin was tried in Comanche for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Charles Webb, and sentenced to 25 years in Huntsville Prison.^[13]
- The Texas Central Railroad^[14] began service in Comanche County in 1885, and began carrying cattle and cotton to market.^[3]
- By 1890, cotton had become king in the county, but by the start of the 20th century, the boll weevil had devastated the county cotton industry for three decades.
- In 1907, farmers in the county began to experiment with peanut farming.^[3]
- Oil was discovered at Desdemona in 1910.^{[15][16]}
- The peak year for the Comanche County oil boom was 1920. More than 70,000 fruit trees were grown in the county.^[3]
- In 1951–1952, a desperate, drought-stricken county experimented with rain making.^[3]
- Proctor Lake was impounded in 1963 to provide flood control and drinking water.^[17]
- From 1968 to 1974, the Comanche County native Jim Reese served as the mayor of Odessa, Texas. He launched unsuccessful congressional campaigns in the 1976 general election against the Democrat George H. Mahon and in the 1978 Republican primary against George W. Bush.
- During the 1970s, the oil industrialist Bill Noël of Odessa purchased orchards in Comanche County.^[18]
- As of 1982, Comanche was ranked second in Texas, with a peanut production of more than 45,546,000 pounds.^[3]

The Great Depression

Known for its fertile soil, Comanche County was a hotbed of political populism in the latter years of the 19th century. In the early 20th century, the Comanche region raised hogs, poultry, peanuts, watermelons, cantaloupes, and engaged in dairying. The area normally receives twenty inches of precipitation per year, but in the Dust Bowl of the Great Depression, drought conditions persisted. Farm products lost some 75 percent of their value during the depression, which the area state representative, Oscar Callaway, blamed primarily on the Federal Reserve System. Nearly 200 county families were on public relief, and area churches formed a private community chest for charity. Some sought employment as day laborers. Rabbits raided the peanut crop. Home canning saved many from total ruin. The county sought federal loans for water resources, civic buildings, and parks. At the time, none of the public schools in Comanche County even had a gymnasium. Ben Barnes, a lobbyist who was reared in Comanche County and formerly the former Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives and lieutenant governor, recalled how the Rural Electrification Administration in particular eased the plight of county residents. Despite the hardships, in 1934 all downtown buildings in the county seat were in use, and a few additional businesses opened even as the depression continued. Like much of the rest of the nation, Comanche County nevertheless persevered through the hard times.^[19]

Geography

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the county has a total area of 948 square miles (2,460 km²), of which 938 square miles (2,430 km²) is land and 9.9 square miles (26 km²) (1.0%) is water.^[20] The county is located some sixty miles north of the geographic center of Texas.

The county is home to Proctor Lake.

Monuments and Relics

Here are the stories and photos of Texans or Americans who trained in Texas and their involvement in The Great War as it was called. It has become one of the United States neglected wars, even though the casualties exceeded 80,000 killed.

There is hardly a Texas Cemetery without the graves of several Doughboys. The monuments to them are all but invisible. The stance of their statues is more belligerent and active than those erected to the dead of other wars. It's ironic considering the time they spent immobile and dying from disease.

They brought back war trophies from "The War to End All Wars" only to have had them melted down in scrap drives to fuel another World War. In many cases - especially in Texas - there were men fighting their cousins. German immigrants had barely gotten settled here when they were sent to fight their uncle's sons.

As a long-time Texas lawyer, Ben Sleeper wrote many a legalese-laden petition alledging this or that in behalf of his clients, but few if any of them ever knew of - much less heard - the patriotic song he composed as a young Army officer in training back during World War I.

Indian Raid in Comanche

One of boldest depredations in Texas history, made in May 1861, during the "Bright Moon." A braying mule wakened town after nearly all horses were stolen. Citizens spent rest of night molding bullets. Pursuit began at dawn, under command of Capt. James Cunningham, assisted by 17 boys and men, using hounds.

Posse finally caught Indians on Brown's Creek (about 36 mi. SW), killing 19 in close fighting. White men's only casualty was a slight wound given to Capt. Cunningham. Relentless pursuit of Indian raiders was key to a town's survival on the frontier.

Surname meaning for "Alexander"

Scottish, English, German, Dutch; also found in many other cultures: from the personal name Alexander, classical Greek Alexandros, which probably originally meant 'repulser of men (i.e. of the enemy)', from alexein 'to repel' + andros, genitive of aner 'man'. Its popularity in the Middle Ages was due mainly to the Macedonian conqueror, Alexander the Great (356–323 bc)—or rather to the hero of the mythical versions of his exploits that gained currency in the so-called Alexander Romances. The name was also borne by various early Christian saints, including a patriarch of Alexandria (ad. 250–326), whose main achievement was condemning the Arian heresy. The Gaelic form of the personal name is Alasdair, which has given rise to a number of Scottish and Irish patronymic surnames, for example McAllister. Alexander is a common forename in Scotland, often representing an Anglicized form of the Gaelic name. In North America the form has absorbed many cases of cognate names from other languages, for example Spanish Alejandro, Italian Alessandro, Greek Alexandropoulos

Alexander

, Russian

Aleksandr

, etc. (For forms, see Hanks and Hodges 1988.) It has also been adopted as a Jewish name. AB, WN

Dear David Morgan

I remember we have corresponded some years ago, and at one time I also believed, along with several other researchers, that my ancestor Charles Wood was the same Charles Wood Jr son of Charles Wood and Sarah Brightwell of Frederick Co, MD. This however, is not the case, and I have proven such to be in error.

There is a Charles Wood enumerated on the 1790 Union District SC census and there is a Charles Wood enumerated on the 1790 Rowan Co, NC census. My research has differentiated these men---they are two different men. Some years ago I came across details of a court case over property in the Maryland archives. Luckily for me, my cousin Blake Wood was conducting research at the Maryland archives and he obtained and sent me the court papers (ie a lawsuit over property of Charles Wood versus one of his brothers) which prove that the Charles Wood of Rowan Co, NC was the Charles Wood Jr, son of Charles Wood and Sarah Brightwell.

This Charles Wood is not my ancestor---this Charles Wood can be found in the 1790 and 1800 census records of Rowan Co, NC---I think 1810 as well, but would have to look at it again to remember, as I am at work and away from my records and files.

My Charles Wood married Rosanna "Rosa" I have seen no proof or documentation that her maiden name was Watson, nor that her husbands middle name was Caleb, nor that Charles "Caleb" Wood was the son of an earlier Caleb Wood., etc. As far as I can see there is no substantiation of this.

My ancestor Charles Wood is enumerated on the 1790 Union District, SC census. I have read that this census was actually taken in the year 1791. He owned land in both Union District and Spartanburg District. According to deed records he owned land on a branch off of Thicketty Creek in Union Co, SC and also I believe on Thicketty Creek itself in Spartanburg (the Creek goes across both counties or districts).

In researching all the families around my Charles Wood of Union District, SC I discovered that many of them migrated from Amherst County, VA. These include the Gossett family, Lemaster family and some others. What I found interesting is the household of Abraham Lemaster (wife Sarah Wood, dau of John Wood of Amherst Co, VA). These same names such as Abraham Lemaster and some other Wood relatives can be found on records in the same geographical area as Charles Wood, and sometimes in connection with the Lipscomb family---there is no mistake on this, as there was only one Abraham Lemaster in the area and he and Wood members were called as witnesses in court cases.

I should also mention that from oral tradition of my relatives, my ancestor Solomon Wood, born 1826, stated that his fathers brother Francis Wood was called Frank Wood, and that he was namesake of an earlier uncle Francis Wood. This is just oral tradition and I refer to it as such....there is also the tradition that the Wood family were Scots Irish and that the first Wood of our line to come to America was a boy from Glasgow Scotland. I cannot substantiate this claim. However, the Francis Wood of Bedford County, VA had lived earlier in Amherst Co, VA and it was this Francis Wood who is named in John Wood's will and in tax records with Paul Wood, Silas Wood, Charles Wood, etc, and of course Abraham Lemaster, husband of Sarah Wood, whose father John Wood gave marriage consent for his daughter to marry. I tracked down a male descendant of Francis Wood, Rev War soldier of Bedford Co, VA, and this male Woods DNA matched that of my Charles Wood's male descendants.

In the 1790 census there is a Molly Wood. It is my assumption that she was the widow of John Wood Jr, ...it could be that she was the widow of another Wood, and as I have looked at this more indepth, I may be incorrect that her husband was John JR. More research is needed. There was a widow Mary Wood who lived in Amherst Co, VA, and could it be that this Mary Wood was nicknamed Molly?

As I have stated, I am at work and away from my research files, etc, so I will cut and paste a posting I made several years ago. I am sure it could bear some updating. Since this post, I have gathered additional evidence on the family of Charles Wood of Union District, SC later Roane Co, TN, which confirms my research statements, and details more links between Charles Wood and his siblings.

Wood research to 2004 by David Travillion Bunton:
After further investigation into the families enumerated with Charles Wood on the 1790 SC census and in his land transactions, I have reached the conclusion that Charles Wood can be identified as coming from Amherst County, VA to the Union/Spartanburg District, SC area. Charles and his wife Rosanna ~SRosa~T Wood had their son Thomas Wood born in Va ca 1783 and then a later born son Caleb born ca 1791 in SC, but then lived possibly in Bedford County, Va and definitely in NC sometime in the early 1800s where some of their later children were born--- son Christopher Wood about 1804 in NC and Francis Wood about 1806 in NC. The Charles Wood enumerated in the 1800 Rowan Co, NC census is from Maryland, and a different Charles Wood than my ancestor Charles Wood, who married Rosa. By 1808 the family of Charles and Rosa Wood can be found in Roane County, Tennessee, with the following deed references:

Roane County, TN Deed Record book D-1, pages 113-115 Deed of Conveyance from John Smith T to Charles Wood for 100 Acres Land This indenture made the fourth day of November in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eight between John Smith T of the district of Saint Geneva and Louisiana Territory of the one part and Charles Wood of the county of Roane and State of Tennessee of the other part...unto the said Charles Wood, his heirs and assigns forever, a certain tract or parcel of land containing one hundred acres more or less, lying and being in the County of Roane and including the spring known by the name of Yourks Spring...Signed, sealed, and delivered in the presence of Caleb Wood and Matthias Millar.

Roane County, TN Deed Record Book D-1, pages 122-124 Deed of Conveyance from Charles Wood to Lot Tallant - 100 Acres Including the York Spring This indenture made this sixteenth day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ten between Charles Wood of the County of Roane and State of Tennessee of the one part and Lot Tallant...

One of the first SC references can be found in Union Co, SC Book B pages 399-400 with an indirect reference to Charles Wood. The deed shows the grantors first as David Hopkins, but in their signatures as David Robenson, so I figure that they are actually Robensons.

24 Jan 1790. David HOPKINS of Union Co to Richard Waters of same, for 50 pounds sterling, 190 acres on a branch called Polecatt on both sides adjacent Saml Henderson, Charles Woods, part of a tract of 498 acres.

Jane Robenson (seal)

witnesses: Moses Waters, Jas. Henderson. Proved in Union county by oath of Moses Waters. 29 Sept 1790 before Thomas Brandon, JP. Recorded 29 Sept 1790
REF: Union County, SC Deed Abstracts Volume I: Deed Books A to F 1785-1800 [1752-1800] by Brent H. Holcomb.

Referencing the 1790 Union District SC Census for Charles Wood (father of Caleb, Christopher, etc). the Col Thomas Brandon who was the JP at time of recording of the deed could be found in Union with Capt James Henderson and Samuel Henderson in Laurens Co, SC. In Union District, the grantee of the above property, Richard Waters, who also came from Amherst Co, Va, is enumerated only a few names from Charles Wood. Following is the exact order of enumeration of Charles Wood and his neighbors:

1790 Union District, SC census (probably very near the Spartanburg Dist. Line)

Rich'd Waters 1-2-4 and 1 slave [Waters family were from Amherst Co, Va]

Phillip Chambers

Molley Wood 1-1-4 [note: widow, prob of John Wood, Jr d. 1787]

Mathew Jones

Charles Wood 1-1-6 [note: wife Rosa]

John Steen

Benjamin Jones

William Wood 1-0-2 [note: bro of Chas~EWm was disinherited by his father John]

James Laurens

James Sheilds

Abraham Booker

Abraham Lamaster 1-1-3 [married Sarah Wood; from Amherst Co, Va]

Andrew Gossett 2-1-3

Abm. Gossett 1-0-3

For the 1790, first column is: males 16 and upwards, second column is: males under 16; third column is: total females.

Of interest are the other Wood households, Molley Wood and William Wood, as well as the household of Abraham Lamaster (or Lemaster) and the Gossett families, because an abstract of a 1796 deed recorded in Spartanburg District, SC in 1796 records a land sale for Charles Wood of Spartanburg County to John Lemaster of Spartanburg County, land on the Pacolote River, bordered by John Lukeroy~Rs Spring, Michael McGaughey~Rs grant, Seth Lewis, and Richeson Whitley. Witnessed by Mathias Bates, John Gossett, Richeson Whitley.

Additionally, Union District, SC Deed Book N page 179 records the sale of land on 1 Dec 1814 from Joshua Petty to John Littlejohn, both of Union County, a tract of land lying on both sides of Polecat, a north branch of Thickety Creek, adjacent land of Jacob Guyton~Rs and Joshua Petty, containing 40 acres, being part of the tract conveyed to Petty by CHARLES WOOD.

The 1790 Spartanburg District, SC enumerates some of the Gossett and Lemaster families as follows (page 87):

Eleazer Lemaster 1-1-2 [from Amherst Co, Va]

Isaak Brown

Wm. Briant

Robert Baker

James Pool

David Pullum

Thos. Barnet

Michael McGaffey 2-3-1 [land bordered Charles Wood]

John Peterson

John Gossit 1-5-4 [witnessed 1796 deed of Charles Wood]

Josiah Sparks

John Leemaster 1-1-1 [purchaser of Charles Wood land in 1796]

Joseph Queen

Reuben Leemaster 1-0-1

Ralph Leemaster 3-4-6 [from Amherst Co, Va]

~E.later on the page is listed James Gossit 1-1-0

These Lemaster and Gossitt families from the Union and Spartanburg County area of SC can be traced back to Amherst Co, Va, as can Charles Wood.

The following records (paragraph) have not been verified by me:

John Lemaster and his wife Ann Keith had several children: Eleazer Lemaster, John Lemaster, Hugh Lemaster, Zachariah Lemaster, Jesse Lemaster, Richard Lemaster, Ralph Lemaster, and Abraham Lemaster. Ralph Lemaster b ca 1740 died in 1797 in Spartanburg Co, SC leaving his widow Lucy. Several of their daughters married Gossetts, including their daughter Anna b. 1766 who married John Gossett b. ca 1766, died 6 Feb 1843, son of John Gossett and Martha Groom. Amherst Co, Va will records for James Warren in 1769 list Eleazer Lemaster, Ralph Lemaster, Sarah Lemaster, as well as James Gossett. (p 381 ~SWills of Amherst Co, Va~T by Rev Bailey Fulton Davis).

Ralph~Rs brother Abraham Lemaster married Sarah Wood on Sept 25, 1781 in Amherst Co, Va, with her father John Wood giving marriage permission. This is the same Abraham Lemaster enumerated only a few households away from his brother-in-law Charles Wood in the 1790 Union District, SC census. This Abraham Lemaster is said to have removed to Kentucky where his wife Sarah Wood Lemaster died. He then married Martha Wooten Tanner on 10 Oct 1826 in Oldham Co, Ky. Abraham Lemaster died 3 Nov 1837 Johnson County, Indiana.

Although the 1790 Virginia census is not extant, the 1787 Virginia tax list is a good substitute. The following information is abstracted from ~SThe 1787 Census of Virginia~T Volume II.

Tax List ~SB~T Amherst Co, Va. District of William Ware, Commissioner.

These were recorded in a general alphabetical order, but all within Ware~Rs district.

In ~SThe Wills of Amherst Co, Va 1761-1865~T by Rev Bailey Fulton Davis (1985, Southern Historical Press) p 396, the Lemaster family served as guardians for Wood orphans. A child was considered orphaned if the father died, although the mother might yet live.

Book 3 page 40: Guardians Bond. Mary Wood and Abraham Lemaster, June 4, 1787, for Mary Wood, as guardian of William Wood, orphan of Jno. Wood.

Book 3 page 41: Guardians Bond. Mary Wood and Abraham Lemaster and Jno. Lemaster, June 4, 1787, for Mary Wood as guardian of Sally, Mary, and Jno. Wood, orphans of Jno. Wood.

These records indicate that Mary Wood, was the widow of John Wood, probably the same John Wood listed with Paul Wood and Charles Wood earlier in the 1787 tax list, with the four children of John and Mary Wood being Sally, Mary, John, and William Wood. I believe that this Mary Wood was the Molley Wood enumerated on the 1790 SC census. Although the 1790 census includes 4 females, it could have been another relative or servant.

The various Lemaster associations with Charles Wood lead to a preponderance of the evidence that he came with this family from Amherst Co, Va to SC.

Internet searches indicate that John and Sarah Wood of Amherst Co, Va and Bedford County, Va are the parents of Sarah Wood Lemasters, wife of Abraham

Lemasters.

The will of John Wood of Amherst County, Va dated 20 Feb 1783 gives his land, stock, houses, and household furniture to his wife Sarah Wood during her life, and after her death, the land to be sold and equally divided between all his sons and daughters except his son William Wood, to whom he gave one shilling. The stock and household furniture he bequeathed to Francis Wood and Paul Wood to be divided equally between them. Although he does not specifically name Francis and Paul as sons, it is clear that they are sons of John Wood. John did not specifically name his children except his son William Wood who he basically disinherited. This William Wood is apparently the William Wood enumerated in the 1790 Union Co, SC census a few households from Charles Wood.

Here is the info which I have verified:

John Wood, died 1783 Amherst Co, VA. Wife Sarah.

Children:

1. Charles Wood b. ca 1755-60 married Rosa
2. Paul Wood
3. Francis Wood b. Amherst Co, Va. Lived in Bedford County, Va. RW soldier
4. Mary Wood (not proven yet)
5. Sarah Wood b 1763-65 Amherst Co, Va, died 1825-26 Henry or Shelby County, Kentucky. Married 26 Sept 1781 Amherst Co, Va to Abraham Lemasters.
6. John Wood
7. William Wood (given one shilling in fathers will)

I understand that the Francis Wood was born in 1763, died 1844, and had sons Charles Wood and Paul Wood who both lived in Bedford Co, Va.

I believe that Francis Wood, born ca 1806 to Charles and Rosa Wood, was the namesake of his uncle Francis Wood, the Rev War soldier, who served with the Virginia State Troops, and received a pension in 1833, as this was stated by the daughter of Solomon Wood (born 1826).

Info in 2004 to be reviewed....

The older John Wood (wife Sarah) is said to be the son of Thomas Wood, and said to be supported with records, but this may be a different John Wood.

~SCavaliers and Pioneers~T vol 7 1762-1776, edited by Dennis Ray Hudgins has these land patents for John Wood:

p. 15 (patent book 35 page 151) John Wood 335 acres Bedford County on both sides of Austin~Rs Creek, a north branch of the north fork of Otter River, adjacent Richard Callaway. 23 May 1763

p. 225 (patent book 39, page 328) John Wood 230 acres Bedford County on the head brs. Of the north fork of Otter River, down the river and up the north branch of the same.
16 Feb 1771.

~SVirginia Wills and Administrations 1632-1800, An Index~T by Clayton Torrence lists

Jno. Wood having a will recorded in Amherst Co, Va.

For Bedford County, Va, Thomas Wood is listed as having an inventory in 1766, and a later Thomas Wood as having a will recorded in 1793.

Amherst Co, Va marriage bonds and land records need to be searched further and also more information on the 1783 will and estate records of John Wood, wife Sarah, of Amherst Co, Va. (note in 2008: I have the will and estate records)

My lineage:

John Wood wife Sarah
Charles Wood wife Rosa
Christopher Wood wife Eleanor Easter
Solomon Wood, wife Sarah Catherine Shubird

Julia, is there any way I can make contact with #W17279, and #W24320?

I do believe their paper research is wrong.

My earliest ancestor was Charles Wood of "Charles Choice" Frederick County, Maryland. He was pledged to marry a lady, but backed out and married Sara Brightwell a year later. The first lady sued him for breach of promise and won.

These were the parents of Charles Wood Jr, who served in the American Revolution, and the grandparents of Caleb S. Wood. Caleb's son Eli Newton Wood was my ancestor, and his oldest daughter that married James Monroe Barber was my ancestor.

The DNA is great, but the paper work is not so great.

Chapter 15

James Monroe Barber

James Monroe Barber was born 17 January 1852, Nacogdoches County, Texas, the fourth child of Silas H. and Sarah Ann (Posey) Barber. He married Sarah Emoline Wood, 2 November 1876 in Limestone County, Texas.

Sarah E. Wood was the daughter of Eli Newton and Elizabeth J. Wood, born 6 February 1856 in Tennessee, died 31 July 1916, Wagoner, Oklahoma.[1]118

James and Sarah moved to Comanche County, Texas in 1880,[2]119 then to Indian Territory in 1889, as James was 1/4 Creek Indian.

James M. Barber and his wife had land in the Creek Nation not far from Wagoner. He served as assistant prosecuting attorney for the Creek Nation, Broken Arrow Town, for two years. He lost his farm when the Dawes Commission ruled that he had not stated his mother's name (Sarah Ann Posey Barber), and had not proved that he was at least 1/4 Creek Indian, and did not meet the residency requirements of the Creek Nation. Ironically, two of his brothers, Robert and John, were both on the Creek Indian Rolls at this time. One of his daughters, Pearl Howard, and one of his granddaughters, Doris Powell, proved their Indian blood in 1968, and received a small allotment.[3]120

James Monroe Barber
James Monroe Barber was born in Natchidoches County, Texas, January 17, 1852, and died November 17, 1940. He came to Wagoner in December 1889 and settled at Blue Mound where he lived until 1904.

He was converted and joined the Baptist Church at Mt. Calm, in Texas in 1878. He was married to Sarah E. Wood in Limestone County, Texas in 1877. To this union eleven children were born, four of whom died in infancy.

He leaves to mourn his departure, seven children, four daughters, Mrs. J.C. Casaver, Wagoner, Mrs. Bertie Gibson, Ada, Mrs. W.C. Hollis of Pryor, and Mrs. Pearl Howard of Oklahoma City; three sons, John S. Barber, Vinita, N.L. Barber, Tulsa, and Davis D. Barber of Erick. One sister Mrs. Sudie Coker of Parson, Kansas. One brother, R.W. Barber Barber of Okmulgee and one sister-in-law, Mrs. May Barber of Oklahoma City. Twenty-five grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends.

Services were held Tuesday from the First Baptist Church at Wagoner, Oklahoma with Rev. D.H. Corwin in charge assisted by Rev. D.A. Spiller and Rev. McCoy.

Burial was made in the family lot at Wagoner by the side of his wife who died twenty-three years ago, and in view of Blue Mound, the old home place settled in 1889.

James M. Barber died two months before his 89th birthday.

Memories of Mrs. Pearl Barber Howard, written shortly before her death, 6 May 1974

"Born in Texas... list in cotton page.. put cotton seen in nose.. my father (James M. Barber) came to I. T. and got a place to live... moved his things in Box car... mama's father (E. N. Wood) gave her 2 cows, they were always hers... male cattle for papa to sell or use for food... she and us children rode the passenger train... a farmer lived on Bill Creek and we lived there until we built our house... orchard... grass was high as a horse's back.

"We settled 2 1/2 miles west of Wagoner at the foot of Blue Mount. planted... The M.K. & T.R.R. had just come through... There was only 1 general store and a Hotel. F. M. Davis owned the store and my Father used him for his Banker... He took care of our money and we could get it back as we need it... He was a great friend... my youngest brother Davis was named for him.

"We made friends with the Indians... Judge Mingo was one of the best... wanted his children to learn white folks way... Emma, Si, Tiecha, Wantea, but his wife and his other children did not like white folks. We went to their Stomp dances. My big sister and I went around with them... some Indian girls called me Iscariki...

"All the neighbors built our own schoool and hired a teacher, Miss Mabel Thomas was a wonder young woman, her father was a colporter... held services in train car in morning and the church at night. Wagoner had grown very fast and our pastor was R. L. Naylor. He baptized me when I was 14. Many of our relatives settled near us. Papa and Mama helped them get settled... stayed in our home. Later two men came bout our place selling organs in a Spring Wagon... a fine team. My father bought the organ, wagon and team. He hired a tutor to live with us and teach my sisters to play the organ, paint, do fancy work and et ...Miss Rose..

"The grass grew as high as horse back so my father went in to the Hay business (no weeds). He bought a hay bailer, had 2 crews of men, 1 white and a black woman cook all needs, implements. Built a large barn 40 x 80 to store... We had about 60 head of cattle and about 40 head of horses. He bought Mama a Surrey and a one horse buggy for himself...

"Were attending school in the school house all the neighbors built. At Christmas we had a Christmas tree. I played Santa Claus and my girl friend Eve played my wife. I still remember my speech to the children. We had Sunday afternoon for... We went to to church A. M. and night... Dr. Edwards did the preaching. We had all of them out to our house for dinner. Bro Naylor and wife love... We had about 13 great hogs butchered and smoking in the Smoke house. My mother always saw that they took a big Ham home with them. When he had to be out of town they got me to stay with her.

"We closed up our school and began going to town, "Central College"

"We closed up our school and began going to town, 'Central College' located in Wagoner. My oldest sister married and I stayed with her and went to C. C. It had pupils from all over I. T. that stayed in Dormitory. But we went as day scholars. Later the city bought the building for a hi-school and hospital and dormitory...

"We loved our Blue Mound... We took our visitors to the top to see the View. We could see all the towns around. The Mound had solid rock through it. My Father gave the town of Wagoner enough rock to build a court house. The Mound could be plainly seen from town and it looked a beautiful Blue. I loved my home and family, we thought our father was the greatest and my mother was so wonderful to us.

"I've thought a lot about our Horses. They were so different, I wish I could write a book about the personality of a horse. We had a grey mare that would not work at anything except mowing. She would balk at anything, but happy as could be when she and another pulled the hay mower. She had a beautiful colt that my father used as his buggy horse, as he has attended the shipping shipping of the baled hay in cars. One terrible night some one set fire to our Hay Barber full of hay ready to be shipped out. He had waited for prices to go up and the time was right. All the hay and barn was burned. But we never found out who did it. All our money was tied up in it. Papa sold the horses and cows and etc and went in business in Porter. I got a position running the post office for the P.M. I met and married a good looking young man. I worked until I was pregnant. 2 1/2 years later my daughter was born. I've had 6 sons, all were in W.W. II except the youngest he was in the Korean War. They all came safely home. They all married and have homes and very too good to me. Their Dad died in '38. I was so lonesome and worried about the boys, I got a job at the Hospital and bought a home large enough to make a duplex so I could pay for it.

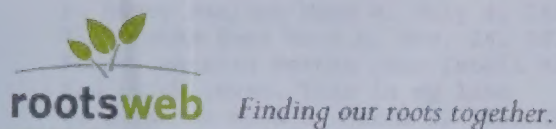

"The Dear Lord has been so good to me. I joined the Aid Society (in Porter) with 10 women and my mother and sister. We worked and raised enough money to build a church in Porter. that was in 1910. We lived in several different towns, the last before coming here. I believe the Dear Lord sent us there we joined church, taught the women's class. The pastor asked me to be W.M.U. Pres. I studied the manuel. my writing PBH."

Stephens (Quachita County)

grant was issued on February 19, 1846, through the Internal Grant Act of 1841 for 320 acres to Benjamin Bell. After Bell's death, his heirs sold the land to M. J. Gentry, who, in 1882, sold 160 acres of the tract to Southwestern Improvement Association of St. Louis, Missouri, from which the Stephens town site was laid out. It was named in honor of Waldo Stephens, the surveyor for the Texas and St. Louis Railway Company in Missouri and Arkansas, which commonly came to be known as the Cotton Belt. Legend has it that Stephens was originally to be named Waldo, but an oversight by the map maker switched the names, giving the name Waldo to the present-day town fifteen miles south of Stephens in Columbia County.

After the town site had been laid out, railroad crews began grading the road bed, laying crossties and rails. This brought in a Mr. Lupo, who purchased a lot, cleared off the virgin timber, and built and opened the new town's first saloon. He was soon followed by a Mrs. Dillard, who built and opened a boarding house to accommodate the railroad crews. These were the first houses built in Stephens, with the exception of the log house occupied by the Gentrys. In 1883, Marcus Lafayette "Shank" Edwards moved his mercantile and cotton business from Richland (Columbia County) four miles southeast to Stephens. Other merchants soon joined Edwards in the new town. On September 3, 1883, the Richland post office was moved and renamed Stephens, with its postmaster, James M. Smith, becoming the first postmaster for Stephens.

In 1886, Thomas P. Lester and John F. Haltom moved from Nevada County and established Haltom & Lester. That same year, W. L. Parker moved from Mount Holly (Union County) to open a dry goods store. The first steps of real growth and expansion for Stephens on a large scale occurred in 1889 when J. S. Smith, H. P. Morgan, D. F. Polk, and M. L. Morgan built four brick buildings.

Stephens incorporated in 1889. Colonel Henry G. Bunn, who would later serve as chief justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court, was employed to obtain the charter. Major T. J. Edwards was elected mayor. In the years following, other businesses began to crop up, including a stave mill, a cotton gin, a bank, and a newspaper—the Stephens Monitor, edited by James L. Birch. In 1889, the first school building was built.

First Baptist Church was organized in 1877 as Pleasant Grove Baptist Church. First Methodist Church received its charter in 1884 with twelve charter members. St. James African Methodist Episcopal was established when five members moved from the Beech Hill community to set up the organization. St. Stephens Missionary Baptist was organized with nine members in 1891.

Stephens also has one of the oldest Masonic lodges in Arkansas. Woodlawn Lodge No. 15 (Free and Accepted Masons) was organized in 1847 in the old Woodlawn community northwest of Stephens. In 1888, the lodge purchased a lot in Stephens and built a two-story wooden building.

Early Twentieth Century

The Stephens Monitor changed its name to the Gazetteer and later to the Stephens Gazette. In 1895, Charles J. Parker began publishing the New Era, though it folded two years later. He established the Stephens News in 1902, publishing it for twenty-seven years. This paper was succeeded by the Beacon News-Herald, managed and edited by A. E. Carter.

The first bank in Stephens was the Bank of Stephens, organized in 1903 with Thomas P. Lester as president. Peoples Bank followed in 1913. Both failed during the Great Depression.

Church of Christ members constructed their wooden meeting house in 1911. Harmony Baptist began in 1912 as the Stephens Baptist Church. The original school was replaced in 1914 by a two-story brick structure, officially dedicated on July 4, with an enrollment of 254 students.

Stephens continued to grow and prosper, with agriculture, especially cotton, being its major support. On April 24, 1920, however, oil was discovered by Col. Samuel S. Hunter on land owned by Haltom & Lester, four miles northeast of Stephens. By July, Louisiana Oil and Refining Company had leased twenty-seven acres of land from Alva Allen to build terminal and tankage sites. In 1922, a group of independent operators drilled the first well west of Stephens, just over the line in Columbia County in what is today known as Smart Oil Field.

Telephone service came to Stephens in 1905. Stephens Fire Department was organized in 1936. Electricity and natural gas came to Stephens, most likely in the late 1920s. A waterworks system was established in 1936, and sewer was added in 1937–38 at a cost of approximately $48,000. Fire destroyed the city hall in 1941, and all records were lost.

World War II through the Modern Era

Security Bank, the first and only bank in the nation founded on credit by a GI business loan, was organized in 1946 as Stephens Security Bank by Floyd Bryan, a World War II veteran. After his $5,000 loan was approved in Washington DC, a policy was established to allow no more GI loans for bank establishments. The bank opened for business on April 1, 1946.

Stephens, like neighboring towns in Ouachita County and the nation, lost residents in combat during World War II. Locals endured rationing and planted victory gardens, and many worked at the Shumaker Naval Ordnance Depot northeast of Camden \(Ouachita County\) during the war years.

The school building was heavily damaged by a hail storm in 1948, and students moved into a new building that fall. In 1951, a new brick school building was dedicated for black students. The schools were desegregated in 1971.

In 1949, Floyd Bryan established the weekly Stephens Star as a service of the Stephens Security Bank. He sold it to Walter Edward Hussman Sr., publisher of the Camden News, in the early 1950s. The newspaper continued to be published until November 1993.

The Stephens Chamber of Commerce was organized in 1967 with 100 charter members. The Stephens Cemetery Association was established in February 1977 to generate revenue to maintain perpetual care of Stephens Cemetery on the western end of town. Cable television arrived on September 1, 1981.

Today, while oil produced by independent producers contributes greatly to the economy of Stephens, the school system is Stephens's major employer, followed by Stephens Paper Corporation and Security Bank.

written by the commandant of Fort Miro (Monroe, Louisiana) to the French territorial governor. An expedition led by William Dunbar—a Natchez, Mississippi, planter—and George Hunter—a Philadelphia physician-botanist—explored and mapped the Ouachita River from Monroe to Hot Springs \(Garland County\) in 1804–1805.

By 1830, settlers holding land grants had migrated to the area. An agrarian economy, bolstered by a single cash crop, cotton, was prevalent until after the Civil War. There were only two large plantations situated within the Smackover area (belonging to the Saxon and Reeves families), with the remaining land utilized exclusively by smaller farms of fewer than 500 acres. As a result, slavery was minimal.

Harsh economic conditions beset the area during and after the Civil War. Although only one major battle was fought in south central Arkansas (the Engagement at Poison Spring), the population experienced extreme difficulties. By 1870, taxation exacted a swift toll. Farms that had been in families for fifty years were sold on the courthouse steps to the highest bidder. Many families that had been solvent only ten years before were destitute.

Post-Reconstruction through the Gilded Age

By 1879, the region's first post office, with the designation Smackover, had opened near a landing on the Ouachita River about five miles north of present-day Smackover. Meanwhile, a new hamlet resulted from railroad construction through southern Arkansas connecting Camden \(Ouachita County\) and points south to Alexandria, Louisiana. When the railroad survey was completed, it included, almost as an afterthought, a modest layout of a town that included a railhead water stop.

The unincorporated town of fifty residents was named Henderson City in honor of the Alexandria-Camden Railroad Company president, John C. Henderson. The application for a post office was quickly dispatched to Washington DC. Officials learned that Arkansas already had a Henderson post office designation, so the federal government decided to close and move the existing and rarely used Smackover post office located at Newport Landing in Ouachita County. Once the move was completed, the Smackover designation belonged to both a post office and a town.

Early Twentieth Century

By 1908, Sidney Albert Umsted operated a large sawmill and logging venture two miles north of town. He believed that oil lay beneath the earth's surface in the region. Few paid attention, but Umsted quietly went about buying land and leasing what was not for sale. An economic blockbuster was about to alter the destiny of a town and its people.

On July 1, 1922, Umsted's wildcat well reached a depth of 2,066 feet. Abruptly, a rumble came from deep beneath the earth's surface. The crew stepped away, listening. Suddenly, a thick black column of oil burst forth and spurted high above the earth.

Within six months, 1,000 wells had been drilled, with a success rate of ninety-two percent. The little town had increased from a mere ninety to 25,000, and its uncommon name would quickly attain national attention.

Smackover was officially incorporated on November 3, 1922. Lawlessness was so rampant that, among the twenty-five petitioners on the incorporation document, none was willing to hold public office. The town's population steadily declined as oil companies and their employees moved away when more lucrative oil discoveries were made in Texas and Oklahoma. About 100 independent oil companies replaced the twelve major petroleum corporations in this period.

Unfortunately, conservation laws were absent in Arkansas, and as a result, wells were allowed to "run wild" until the natural gas had been vented into the atmosphere. This practice eventually ruined the giant oil field, which could be compared to a punctured aerosol can that has half of its contents remaining but no remaining interior pressure to remove it. By the early 1930s, the Smackover oil field's production had declined dramatically, and the petroleum industry's attention

Hello, Willie:

Anita and I enjoyed being with you and Folsom, last week. It is always great being with you and catching up. You really look good, and I am happy you are well. Thank you for your kind offer to help me get started with my family tree. Here are the particulars as I know them:

MOTHER: Victoria Julia Green GRANDFATHER: James Green, Stephens, Arkansas

Born-Stephens, Arkansas
Date- March 6, 1917

FATHER: Warner Henry Lewis GRANDFATHER: Warner Henry Lewis-Virginia-1880's (maybe Williamsburg)

hope)
Born-Texas, Arkansas
Date- August 11, 1917

GRANDMOTHER: Elizabeth Lewis- (Lizzie Lou) 1880's. Arkadelphia, Arkansas Maiden Name-Featherston (I Hope this gets it going, Willie. As I said, I have my Dad's Father pretty well nailed down, but the other three lines are very sketchy. I am around all through the holidays if you want me to come by to learn how to do this.

Thank you so much, and Merry Christmas!

Steve

submitted Nov 1994 by: Gene Hyden

The following comments and corrections were submitted by Gene Hyden. In FEATHERSTON FINDINGS, volume 1, page 26 - Henry Featherston was not a surgeon; he was a sergeant (War of 1812).

Volume 1. p. 27-1 have the birthplace of Lucius Horace Featherston as Murfreesboro. Rutherford Co., TN.

Volume 1, page 28 - I have Joseph Ernest Featherston's wife as Clara Mary Parks, rather than Mary Clara Parks. (JFH: Does anyone know which is correct?)

Volume 3. page 17 - Just a format confusion - 3. Julie Ann Cooper seems to be a sister of Robert Paul & Bettie Ann Shamburger; should be sister of Cathy & Cammie Cooper.

Volume 4, page 20 - Dorothy French Featherston married in Amelia Co., VA not Prince Edward County. Most of the references to her husband's name has been spelled 'roughly' CADWALLADER or CADWALADER (Jones) rather that Cadawalder.

Volume 8. page 18 - Louise Lafayette Hooker should be Louis Lafayette Hooker.

JFH: Thank you very much. Gene. for your corrections and comments. If anyone else spots errors in our publication, please notify us. One of our goals is to correct pre-published errors regarding our FEATHERSTON(E) ancestors, not only in FEATHERSTON FINDINGS, but other publications as well.

Death date of Ellender Dooley Martin

An article about the life of Henry Martin from The Comanche Chief, written 23 Sept 1882 tells about the death of his first wife. It says:

In the fall of 1852 he started for Texas. While on the way he was delayed by high water in St. Francis County, Arkansas. While there, his wife, Ellender, sickened and died.

Mrs. Martin was in every respect a dutiful, good, Christian woman. The date of her death was December the 5th, 1852. She was long a member of the Methodist church, and her dying words were an exhortation to her family to lead Christian lives, in preparation for the great change she was then experiencing.

Smackover's existence is a result of one of the largest and most dramatic oil discoveries in the nation. Its sixty-eight-square-mile oil field led the nation's oil output in 1925, with production reaching seventy million barrels. Prior to the discovery of oil, the area's economy initially relied upon cotton and, by 1890, a timber industry that thrived in the vast virgin forests of southern Arkansas.

The name Smackover is derived from an eighteenth-century French description of the north and south central areas of Union and Ouachita counties, which they dubbed "Sumac Couvert," meaning "covered with sumac"—a reference to the area's dense growths of sumac trees.

European Exploration and Settlement

An uncharted wilderness greeted French hunters and trappers along the Ouachita River. The typography resembled a vast sunken swamp interspersed with rolling hills and steep knolls. The name Bayou de Chemin Couvert (Smackover Creek) first appeared in an April 5, 1789, letter turned to new discoveries in Texas and Oklahoma. The 1923 population of 25,000 decreased to 2,500.

World War II through the Faubus Era

The town's economic outlook improved considerably during World War II, when new oil discoveries fueled the area's four refineries. The war effort created a huge demand for petroleum, and the oil field was the focus of renewed exploration and drilling.

Although the Smackover field is still going strong into the twenty-first century, it has none of the robust vigor that was so prevalent in the 1920s. Its landscape is scarred by oil and saltwater running freely over the earth and into its streams due to the work of the oil industry.

Modern Era

Although the boom days are over, Smackover is still a viable community with a stable population. The petroleum industry still plays an important role in its economy with fifty percent of its population depending upon the oil industry.

Smackover has experienced numerous improvements through the years, but its main street appears much as it did in the boom days; many of the original brick structures remain. Well-established churches, five city parks, a nature trail, a country club, and unlimited boating, fishing, and hunting opportunities make the town a welcoming community.

The citizens of Smackover consider their school system to be the town's most important asset. Since 1995, ninety-five percent of the school's campus has been replaced with new construction.

Former Smackover residents of note are Sidney Albert Umsted, who discovered the Smackover oil field, and Clyde "Smackover" Scott, who was an All-American in football and track and field at the University of Arkansas, as well as an Olympic silver medallist.

Smackover was also home to the late Rhena Salome Miller Meyers, better known as the "Goat Woman," who lived in Smackover from 1929 until her death in the 1970s. She was an ex-Barnum and Bailey circus performer who lived with her husband in a circus carriage and raised goats. The Goat Woman's circus carriage is featured in an exhibit gallery in the Arkansas Museum of Natural Resources, which is located near Smackover.
